Trucker's Life 'Really Rough'

By LIANE GUENTHER Star Staff Writer

Doug Duff is an independent trucker. And in his words, "It's rough, it's really rough.

Along with thousands of truck owners across the country, the Bennet trucker has been caught in the ever-tightening squeeze of rising operating costs and administrative efforts to keep prices down.

Duff, 31, has been driving trucks for almost nine years. About two years ago he decided to buy his own rig.

Now he has six trucks, or "six headaches." as he refers to

Besides trying to appease the finance company and pay five drivers, he has to support his wife, Shirrale, and three small children, Linda 7, Jim, 6, and Doug Jr., 4.

"Everything's just about nip and tuck as it is now," he said. "Hell, everything I've got's mortgaged. It gets down to zilch once in awhile.'

Duff said he has had several rate increases in the past year, but "if diesel fuel goes up another penny or two, it'll just about take care of the increases we have now

'We don't want to make bigger profits," he said, "we just want to make a fair profit.

For the months of December and January, he said he operated at a loss. Since the rate increases, he's "running in the black, but not making any return on my investments.

"I'd be better off to put money in the bank." he said. "If you make 1 or 2% right now, you're a pretty efficient operator, I believe." he said.

But like the majority of independent truckers in the state,

DUFF . . . owner of 'six headaches.

Duff doesn't want to strike May 13, unless the shutdown is 100% nationwide.

"If a few keep truckin'. nothing will ever come to a head," he said.

Besides, he would lose more "If we go (on strike) for a week, it'll take two months to catch up and break even with the board again," he said. "That first strike really hurt.

Yeh, you could say I definitely lost money. The biggest question he faces now is whether he can afford to stay in business.

Duff said that if he doesn't get the rate increases he needs, he may give up and go on welfare.

"Nixon's taking care of the oil companies; he might as well take care of us. too."

He figures he's "pretty lucky" to get paid 50 cents a mile for an average run between the Midwest and the East Coast.

On the other hand, it's costing him about 43 cents a mile to keep a rig on the road, he said, and that's not counting emergen-

"I just had a truck break down in Pennsylvania," he said. The fan went through the radiator. That bill was $917, plus his driver was tied up three days waiting for repairs.

"That just about takes care of any profits for a whole month,"

To top it off, an overhaul on that same truck, only 6,200 miles before, had set him back another

When he thinks of rising costs for diesel fuel, tires, oil, food and repairs, he can only moan and shake his head. "I just wonder when and how it's all going to end," he said. Diesel fuel is up from 24 to around 48 to 50 cents a gallon; repairs cost 30-40% more than a year and a half ago and tires are up another 38%, he lamented.

"And the truckstops have hopped right on the wagon. Grease jobs, service work, tire repair, labor, everything's higher," he said.

"On the road it's take it or leave it. If it falls apart 15 miles down the road, there's nothin' we can do.

"They believe in a 30-90 guarantee," he said, cracking half a smile . . . "30 feet or 90

The 55-mile-an-hour speed limit has cut his mileage from around five miles to the gallon to a little better than four, he said. It also means he loses revenue from at least one load a week.

Duff said (in so many words) that the state patrols have been eracking down pretty hard on speeders lately.

While trucking across Iowa last week, a distance of about 300 miles, he said he spotted 48 troopers, six sets of radar and an airplane overhead clocking

His trucks are not equipped with citizen band (CB) radios yet. He said he's going to get them, even at an average cost of

"I'd just like to add one more thing," he told a reporter. "You don't have to be crazy to drive or own a truck, but it sure as hell

President To Be Told He's In Noncompliance

. . . Tapes, Not Transcripts, Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) -Sharply splitting along party lines, the House impeachment inquiry voted Wednesday night to tell President Nixon he has "failed to comply" with its subpoena for Watergate tapes.

The committee approved 20 to 18 with only one Republican joining Democrats in voting to send Nixon a letter saving that he has failed to comply by publicly releasing edited transcripts rather than turning over subpoenaed tapes. Two Democrats joined Republicans in voting no.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie. D-Calif., laid groundwork for possibly citing non-compliance as an impeachable offense against the President in the Waldie asked special impeachment counsel John Doar if the President's willful refusal to comply with the House subpoena is an impeachable offense and Doar replied: "I believe it could be an impeachable offense under these circumstances.

But Republicans contended that President Nixon has substantially complied with the subpoena by publicly releasing transcripts that they contended in some cases are better than the tapes themselves.

Committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said "the President has not complied with our subpoena."

The committee approved a simple letter proposed by Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., to the President from Rodino saving that as of 10 a.m. Tuesday, the subpoena's deadline, "You have failed to comply with the committee's subpoena A proposal by Rep. William S.

Cohen, R-Maine, that the letter say the President's transcripts "do not represent full compliance" and seek more access to the tapes themselves was rejected on a procedural vote 27

Cohen's letter would have advised the President that the committee would have to have its lawvers review the original tapes, have the opportunity "to verify the authenticity of the tapes" and in some cases let the full committee hear the original

"I did not consider my vote for the subpoena to be an idle vote. Cohen said. "The information that our equipment is better only confirms my own opinion that we should have access to the Doar had disclosed earlier that the staff had been able to decipher sections of the key March 21, 1973, White House conversation on hush money for the Watergate burglars that are marked "unintelligible" in the transcripts of the President

That tape, which was not included in the committee's subpoena, was given to the panel earlier by the White House when Nixon agreed to let the committee have all the tapes that had been previously turned over to the special prosecutor.

Rep. John Convers Jr. D-Mich., then moved to have the President cited for contempt of Congress but it was tabled killed — by a vote of 32 to 5.

In related developments: -Sources said the Senate Watergate committee's report on Watergate may be delayed because of the White House transcripts released this week. -At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the "over-all reaction" to Nixon's disclosures "has been very good . . . it has been generally very well received throughout the country." He turned aside specific questions related to the transcribed conversations, saying that the Chambers Campaigns For Wolff "presided over the transition from the 'old regime'

By DON WALTON Star Staff Writer

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha has written members of the Legislature urging them to consider rejecting the appointment of New Hampshire Warden Joseph Vitek as director of the Department of Correctional Services.

Chambers said he "strongly favor(s)" the appointment of Nebraska Warden Charles Wolff in his place.

Vitek was named interim director by Gov. J. James Exon, effective June 1. His appointment would, in the normal course of events, be submitted to the 1975 Legislature for confirmation.

Serious thought should be given to this matter

Attempt To Revive Controls On Standby Basis Defeated

Washington (AP) — The Senate voted 57 to 31 Wednesday to kill an attempt to revive wageprice controls on a standby basis for another year. However, it adopted 44 to 41 another part of an anti-inflation package advanced by three Democratic senators which would give President Nixon power to monitor price and wage hikes through the Cost of Living Council or some other

The President also would have authority to enforce commitments made by industries when they entered into decon-

trol agreements. The Nixon administration said earlier Wednesday that it will seek to enforce anti-inflation commitments made by several hundred business firms, even though its wage and price controls program has expired. A White House statement, prepared but not issued, said the Cost of Living Council will continue as an economy monitoring agency through June 30, with authority to gather information on wages and prices.

But it said it was abolishing immediately the Committee on Interest and Dividends, a group which has sought to restrain dividend payments by corporations and interest charges by banks on consumer loans.

Wage and price controls expired at Tuesday midnight except for those applying to petroleum products.

The unsuccessful proposal in the Senate would have given President Nixon power to impose controls on a selective basis for the next year on segments of the economy where he found a serious inflationary danger to

Sponsors of the package proposal were Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La.

The three senators contended that the nation still faces a serious inflationary danger and that the government should be left with some tools to deal with

"Such has not been shown to be the case here. "It may not be wise for Mr. Vitek to resign his New Hampshire post and burn his bridges on the assumption that the Legislature will routinely confirm his appointment.

Bill Requires States To Adopt No-Fault

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate on Wednesday passed a far-reaching bill requiring the states to adopt no-fault automobile insurance.

On a 53-42 vote, senators gave final approval to the measure demanding that automobile insurance in each state guarantee compensation to accident victims regardless of who caused the accident. The bill, opposed by the Nixon administration, now goes to the House. Sponsors, led by Sens. Frank Moss, D-Utah, say ment of medical, rehabilitation and loss-of-wage benefits arising from traffic accidents. The bill, attacked as unconstitutional, also would bar a victim or his survivors from suing the other driver's insurance company for "pain and suffering" unless he died, was seriously and permanently injured or was totally disabled for more Opponents contended that each state should be allowed to adopt the type of auto insurance best suited to its needs. The only federal responsibility under the no-fault bill would be to see that each state plan meets the federal standards - that is, that it assures minimum benefits to victims and restricts the right

Sponsors claim the federal no-fault plan could reduce premiums in every state by something less than 33 per cent. Opponents attacked the figures and predicted no-fault would raise insurance rates Within four years after Congress finally passes

the bill, every state would have to enact a no-fault plan meeting the federal standards.

Curtis, Hruska Oppose Bill

Washington (UPI) - Nebraska Republican

Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska voted against the no-fault auto insurance bill Wednesday. The Senate passed it 53-42.

Washington (AP) - President Nixon's lawyers moved to quash a prosecution subpoena Wednesday and hinted strongly they are moving toward a Supreme Court showdown over whether the White House must give any more tapes and documents to Watergate investigators.

In a motion filed in U.S. District Court, the President's attorneys asked Judge John J. Sirica to quash a subpoena seeking tapes and records of 64 White House conversations for use by the Watergate special prosecutor in the cover-up trial of seven defendants

A spokesman for the office of special prosecutor Leon Jaworski said the White House motion would be resisted. A hearing was set for Thursday morning in Sirica's courtroom.

"Yes, we will resist," the prosecutor's office said. "This is material we need. We will do everything we have to secure it.

While White House chief Watergate Lawyer James St. Clair at a news conference earlier in the day had avoided a direct answer to questions about a Supreme Court fight, the motion filed later indicated he was preparing to take the battle

In the motion, St. Clair raised some points of law which he said he was not pressing at this point but was mentioning them "in order that they may be preserved should it be necessary for this case to reach a court in which Nixon vs. Sirica is not a controlling precedent.

The only court through which this case could normally pass in which the Nixon vs. Sirica case of last fall is not controlling would be the Supreme Court.

In the earlier case Sirica rejected similar White House arguments last October and ordered Nixon to turn over several tapes sought by then special prosecutor Archibald Cox. Sirica was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District

At his news conference Wednesday morning St. Clair had reasserted earlier indications from the White House that Nixon would seek to call a halt to demands for tapes and documents after he turned over 1,200 pages of transcripts to the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

He also disclosed that the House Judiciary Committee seeks more than 140 additional tapes for its impeachment inquiry.

EAGLE, NEBRASKA Lincoln's Largest Exclusive Appliance Store

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Seven black men were arrested Wednesday in the "Zebra" street shootings of 18 whites, and the city's mayor claimed police had uncovered a separatist sect dedicated to murdering whites.

"The police have pierced the veil of a vicious ring of murderers called Death Angels," Mayor Joseph Alioto said. "We have the principals involved in the Zebra slayings.

Labelling the sect "a reverse Ku Klux Klan," Alioto told a news conference in his office that 'nearly 80 murderous assaults have been characterized by the Death Angels pattern of operations" in California since 1970.

Law enforcement officials, however, said they were not aware of a statewide pattern of murder such as that outlined by Alioto.

"We have no indication that any of the murders in San Francisco are connected with those others around the state," State. Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger told another news conference. "We have no evidence of a statewide conspiracy. We are still investigating.

Younger, a Republican who is seeking nomination for governor, said he would not comment further on Alioto's description of the group. "I don't want to say anything that might jeopardize the investigation," he said.

Alioto, a Democrat who also is seeking nomination for governor, suspended his campaign activities to conduct an early morning meeting Satur-

said it was at that meeting he first learned of the existence of Death Angels

"The Death Angels, who use wings as an insignia, literally earn their promotions upon presentation of proof of the number and nature of the murders committed," Alioto said Wednesdasy.

"The local group is a division of a larger organization dedicated to the murder and mutilation of whites and dissident blacks. The pattern of killing is by random street shooting or hacking to death with machete, cleaver or knife.

"Decapitation and other forms of mayhem bring special credit from the organization for the killers. Hitchhikers are a particular prev.

Police Chief Donald Scott was asked if the rash of San Francisco killings was over and said: "I hope they are.

Alioto's announcement came as 100 police, wearing bulletproof vests and armed with shotguns, finished rounding up the seven black men in a series of raids that began at 3:30 a.m.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca identified the men as: J.C. Simon, 29; Larry Green, 22; Dwight Stallings, 28; Thomas Manney 31; Manual Moore, 23; Edgar Burton, 22, and Clarence Jamerson, 27.

All were booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit murder, Barca said.

"Death Angels, a kind of reverse Ku Klux Klan, is based on muddled aberrations clearly outside the mainstream of Islamic religions," Alioto said. "In my opinion it represents as much a potential threat

"Our intelligence indicates that the national leader of this organization is apparently located outside of California and that he determines levels of promotion in the local divisions." In response to a question, he said he believes "the leader is located in a Midwestern city. That's the best we can say at this point.

Alioto said: "Nearly 80 California murderous assaults, principally in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda and Sacramento counties between December of 1970 to date, have been characterized by the Death Angel pattern of operations - unprovoked random shootings of whites in the street or mutilation by heavy-bladed weapons committed by neatly dressed young black men.

Kissinger To Succeed, Sadat Says

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) -President Anwar Sadat said Wednesday night he is fully confident Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will work out a Syrian-Israeli disengagement pact on the Golan Heights.

Sadat also said he may take up with Kissinger the possibility of U.S. arms supplies for Egypt but that the subject had not been discussed yet. Two weeks ago Sadat announced that Egypt was ending its 18-year reliance on Russia for weapons. He charged the Soviets with making long delays in promised arms shipments and with trying to use arms as a club to control Egypt's foreign policy.

Sadat stressed that Syrian President Hafez Assad "has the final word" with Kissinger about a Syrian-Israeli troop separation on the Golan, but added: "We are discussing all the possibilities.'

Egyptian sources said the only two remaining stumbling blocks are a way of linking disengagement to further steps toward peace and the question of who controls three vantage points west of Mt. Hermon which look down on Syrian and Israeli positions. However, American sources cautioned there was no deal in the offing and predicted negotiations would be

Major Oil Firms

Washington (UPI) - Energy chief John C. Sawhill complained to Congress Wednesday that major oil companies are threatening to damage free competition by taking over too many retail outlets.

He told a Senate small business subcommittee that moves by refiners to enter the retail business are included in the Federal Energy Office's investigation into competitive practices in the petroleum in-

"One of the trends currently of concern to me is that major oil companies are moving into the retail sector more aggressively," said Sawhill, head of the FEO

He told the subcommittee that currently independent dealers dominate retail sales of gasoline and the FEO wants to keep it that way.

"It seems to me to be very important to maintain a strong, viable independent segment. he said, explaining that the FEO would like to have fuel allocation powers "for some time in the future" to ensure survival of the independents.

Sawhill also predicted that fuel shortages would be less severe next winter. He said there would be some spot shortages but nothing like the long lines at gasoline pumps last winter.

"I believe the severe shortages we experienced this past winter are largely over," said Sawhill. "Unless there is a reimposition of the (Arab oil) embargo, and I don't anticipate that happening, we will not experience the severe shortage we had last

Several Oil Companies Up Prices; Ashland Cuts Cost

New York (UPI) - Several major oil companies raised the price of gasoline Tuesday, but one, Ashland, cut the price Wednesday by 5 cents a gallon.

Raising prices were Shell Oil, Standard Oil (Ohio) and Skelly Oil of Tulsa. Shell raised the wholesale price 4.8 cents a gallon, Sohio boosted it by 6 cents and Skelly by 3.2 cents. Skelly also raised prices of diesel and heating oils by 4.3 cents and the price of propane bottled gas by 2 cents.

These companies all have reported substantial increases in first quarter earnings.

Nixon Speech A Monument To Artful Dodging

VASHINGTON — In the great crises of his political life, Richard Nixon has been almost recklessly bold. He saved himself from charges of corruption in the presidential campaign of 1952 with his Checkers speech. He came back after losing the presidency of 1960 and the governorship of California in 1962, and the guess here is that he has helped himself by his latest TV defense against impeachment and convic-

As in 1952, he appealed in his latest TV performance to the people over the heads of the politicians. His fate lies, first, with the Judiciary Committee of the House, then with the opinion of the House itself, and finally, if he cannot persuade them, with the judgment of the Senate. But he did not give the Judiciary Committee the evidence it had subpoenaed. He gave them that part of the evidence he thought they should have, and interpreted it selectively in his TV address to the nation before the Judiciary Committee had even had a chance to read the partial evidence he had provided.

More than that, he challenged the Congress to decide what facts they needed to carry out their constitutional responsibilities in the impeachment process, and even insisted on who should verify the evidence he had made available.

For example, he insisted that his own lawyers should have the right to challenge any charges made against him in the impeachment proceedings of the House, but refused to allow the lawyers of the Judiciary Committee to listen to the tapes and check them against the selected transcripts he sent to Capitol Hill.

In short, he asked the people and the Congress to trust him, but refused to trust the Judiciary Committee or its lawyers to hear the tapes on which his argument was based. Also, he concentrated his attack on the testimony of John Dean, the main witness against him, though he must have known that Dean was forbidden by the courts to answer back.

All this was presented by the President to the nation as an exercise of unprecedented generosity. No president in the history of the Republic, he said, had ever made available to the Congress or the people so many secret conversations within the White House, which is true. No doubt, he added, these documents would be misconstrued by his opponents in the Congress and the press, but he had always sought to do what was right, and now all these thousands of documents would be published, and if anybody had any doubt, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Peter Rodino, Jr., of New Jersey, and the senior Republican member of the committee, Edward Hutchison of Michigan, could listen to the tapes and confirm whether or not he was telling the truth.

It is odd that such a speech should have to be made in America by the President of the United States, and even tragic that he felt he had to say, if you don't believe all this, you can check it against the record, but still this was probably the most powerful and effective political speech Nixon has ever made. Unlike his recent public speeches in Mississippi, Texas, and Illinois, when he seemed to be elaborately enthusiastic in his language and gestures, Nixon argued his case from the Oval Office of the White House with patient detail and calm. If he made any mistake, it was that he went on too long, but he was composed and conveyed the impression that he knew precisely what he was

Seen from Capitol Hill, it was a clever, almost an outrageous speech. For if the Congress agreed with it, the House and the Senate would be saying that, even in an impeachment proceeding, the President should be able to select the evidence and the people who should check and confirm it. Nevertheless, seen from the television screens, the President's main target, it was probably an effective and even brilliant political performance. Here is all the relevant evidence, he said to the television audience. It will prove my fairness and innocence. Here behind me are volumes of testimony. Let the Congress and the people study them, and if they have any doubt, let Rodino and Hutchinson of the Judiciary Committee listen to them, and raise questions, and I will answer them under oath. But not, he insisted, the rest of the Judiciary Committee, and not the lawyers of the committee or its staff.

No doubt this sounded fine to the television audience, but imagine Rodino and Hutchinson, without lawyers or staff, trying to go through dozens of tapes on hundreds of intricate questions, while still trying to preside over the proceedings of the Judiciary Committee and whatever else is going on in the House of Representatives. Even if the President's invitation were reasonable, it would take months of listening, and months more of questioning.

Meanwhile, the other members of the Judiciary Committee will be complaining that they have been tricked and left out of hearing the evidence, and the controvers will not be resolved, as the Presiden predicted, but will become even more com plicated and vindictive than before.

This is the chance the President took maybe the boldest of his career - but it may work. Like Stans and Mitchell, the President's problem is to prove that there is a "reasonable doubt" that he knew about the scandals of 1972 or tried to cover them up. And by releasing all these volumes of testimony and going to the people with his evidence and his appeals to get all this behind us and get on to the battle against war and inflation, he has probably gained considerable support in the country and some votes in Congress. Nixon is probably wrong in supposing that his speech and his pile of documents will end the controversy, but he has released enough to create "reasonable doubt" and that may be decisive in his favor at the end.

Curtis Incredibly Loyal

The House Judiciary Committee should close up shop immediately and stop wasting the taxpayers' dollars, according to Nebraska Senator Carl T. Curtis. The Minden senator thus continues his incredible loyalty to the President.

Throughout the entire Watergate episode, Senator Curtis has been probably the staunchest supporter of Mr. Nixon. In the process, he has shown far more concern for the political welfare of the President and his party than he has for the preservation of those essential values of society that Watergate has dragged through the mud.

Of course, Curtis would affirm his faith in the law of the land. He would not support breaking and entering, obstruction of justice, perjury and the long litany of other criminal acts that have been a part of the Washington scandal.

The important thing is that Curtis has sought to hide all this from public view by his constant defense of the President. He has sought to sell the American people a bill of goods, one that the vast majority of citizens simply have not bought.

But Curtis apparently believes the people of Nebraska still have or will buy his position in the matter. Curtis has displayed no concern at all for the facts and has constantly taken Watergate with a grain of salt.

Now he proposes that the House investigating committee stop its work and maintains that what it has done to date has been a waste of money. Would the senator want the investigation of crime stopped in midstream in the many other cases that abound throughout the land?

Would he say it was a waste of money for public investigators to examine evidence pertaining to possible crimes in the private sector of the nation's business? Curtis has consistently demonstrated a total lack of appreciation for any of the evils that have been a part of the Watergate situation.

The Nebraska senator has been indifferent to the raw abuses of power that have been uncovered in the administration and the people of this state ought to hold him accountable for this.

Revival of Courtroom Brawling

The calendar was rolled back a few years in Sioux Falls, S.D., Tuesday when Indian militants and police did battle, leaving the furnishings and the dignity of a courtroom in shambles.

It was somewhat reminiscent of the courtroom antics of antiwar activists versus officers of the court during the conspiracy trails of recent vestervear.

Only these were more than antics. Sympathizers with Indian defendants who are on trial for their part in the violent demonstrations in Custer, S.D., two years ago, refused to stand for the judge's entrance into the courtroom. The judge then ordered the courtroom cleared.

Few are certain of the spark which touched it off, but in the ensuing melee, the courtroom was wrecked, half the windows in the building were knocked out, ten persons were hospitalized for injuries and two innocent persons were killed, indirectly, when a police car on the way to the scene collided with another car.

Some say the Indians started it all; others contend it was a "police riot." We imagine that none of the parties was completely blameless.

And we know that Americans had hoped that such arrogance, destruction and injury as part of the judicial process belonged to the past.

It is well established by now that causes, such as the Indian militants are serving, cannot be helped by mocking the symbols of justice. And the police should have learned by now that they cannot command respect and confidence by overzealous head-knocking.

With the Wounded Knee trials scheduled in Lincoln in the near future, people here might be especially apprehensive after what happened in Sioux Falls. We hope that the coming judicial drama can be played out with the respect and dignity due the process.

Miracles Or Missiles?

DAMASCUS - Many miracles have been reported in this part of the world but I somehow doubt if Henry Kissinger, described as a miracle-maker by his new friend, Anwar El-Sadat, president of Egypt, is going to pull one out of his hat when he comes here on his new tour of the Bible Lands. To begin with, he doesn't wear a hat.

The key figure on this trip is Hafez Al-Assad, Syria's 44-year-old chief of state. If Assad, a blocky, self-contained, courteous general, who may be the world's only political boss who can fly a MIG, talks to the secretary of state the way he talked to me, Kissinger may order a Homburg after all.

The Syrian used to command the air force before he seized control of his country four years ago. But this technical experience had nothing to do with the fact that our lengthy, unemotional conversation in the palace of this famous, ancient city, where the head of Saint John the Baptist is enshrined, was studded with loud bangs.

The bangs didn't come from Assad who is by nature so cool he doesn't have to keep it. No. the counterpoint was provided by Syrian and Israeli jets which started their argument near Mount Hermon and got so loud about their missile exchanges as they skidded overhead that the former air force general telephoned to inquire what the noise was all about.

The noise, of course, symbolized what brings Henry here. Had his wife been arranging the tour, John the Baptist might have been the attraction, but she is off investigating the Nile

公 公 公

President Assad represents the hurdle to be crossed before an Arab-Israeli peace conference can be reconvened. He is a highly moral, essentially unsubtle man of modest origins. He comes from an Alawite family in the North. The Alawites are a schismatic Moslem sect in the intensely religious Middle East where more men by far have been killed for God than for any other reason.

He graduated from military academy and trained as a fighter pilot in Russia, although he doesn't look like a dashing aerobatics expert and told me that on his rare free moments he likes to walk, read and play ping-pong.

Assad acknowledges no specific ideological or personal influences. He says he was bitten early by a patriotic bug and a desire to shake off foreign influences (French, when he was born.)

According to him he was always serious and spent much time reading, as he still does. He joined the Baath Arab Socialist Party - often divided into factions — and still considers himself a Baath "Arab Socialist Nationalist" but emphatically not "a Marxist." He claims his ambition has been constant: to liberate and develop his country and to equalize the distribution of its wealth.

Diplomats say he has shown a tendency toward liberalization, economic relaxation and religious tolerance. Christian services are broadcast by the state radio on Sundays for the first time in years. In Syrian terms, all these aspects are significant. This is a durable little country. inured to hardship, which boasts it makes the

General Assad

Assad claims that "wars are not our hobby." His initial trade was war and he is not likely to be easily diverted from his basic goals in the new demi-war with Israel, a demi-war only in the sense that Syria alone is doing the fighting. He acknowledges that his military supplies have been built up by Russia so they are at least as strong as when the October Arab-Israeli war started. He depends on Moscow to continue to pass the ammunition even if it doesn't join his Alawites in praising the Lord.

It seems obvious that if Kissinger is to produce a miracle and end the booming of missiles on the Mount Hermon-Golan front, thus opening the door to a new peace meeting in Geneva, he is going to have to put new pressure on Israel while his colleague, Gromyko, somehow tranquilizes Syria.

Israel is unhappy about what has been going on, not only in interested superpower capitals but also with the situation along its borders and inside them. It counts on Kissinger and hopes he can assuage the stolid Gromyko.

But whether all this can influence the granitic Assad and silence the missiles . . . that will indeed give a miraculous tinge to what is called diplomacy.

Senator's Real Job

The individual who signed himself "taxpayer" clearly does not understand the situation. A state senator does not work a mere 60 days per year but, rather, 365. To do a good job, a senator must put in an average 16-hour day during sessions. After a session, numerous demands are placed on his time which does not allow a conscientious senator ever to really settle down to his own business.

Many senators suffer substantial losses in their private incomes which the state salary doesn't even come near to replacing. For those senators who must commute from home to session each day, not to mention numerous meetings held outstate, this sum of $4,800 does not even cover the year's gas bill!

A good senator will break his back for his people. He will do everything from getting a monumental bill passed in the Legislature to securing glasses and hearing aids for those who can't afford it.

Those who yell the loudest about raising the salary are hurting only themselves. If the salary were raised to a reasonable level, the "little guy" could afford to run for the Legislature. As it is now, only those with money or their own businesses can think of running. A wage-earner can't.

'Debate' On Impeachment

Lincoln, Neb. I am amused at recent inept efforts here in Lincoln to stir up support for impeachment of the President. First, I'd better make it clear that I am registered as neither a Republican nor a Democrat, but as a non-partisan voter. As such, I do not approve of corruption in high office, and felt strongly that Agnew should have been sent to jail for his admitted income tax evasion, and regrettably, Nixon appears to be guilty of the same.

But — to take an example — I happened to sit in on a recent meeting of the local branch of the American Civil Liberties Union and said meeting, which had been publicized as a debate on the impeachment issue, was nothing but a farce!

First their Mr. Fishlow spoke for impeachment. Then another speaker, who supposedly was against impeachment, instead of speaking thusly, rambled off on a series of tangents concerning politicians, civil liberties, etc., and in no way contested what Mr. Fishlow had said.

I have a suspicion that A.C.L.U. was afraid to admit the weaknesses of their impeachment argument. And it happened that Mr. Fishlow admitted being a Democrat who had voted for Lyndon Johnson.

Therefore, I would like to ask why nothing has been said by the supporters of impeachment about the corruptness of a President who sent thousands of American boys to their deaths. and how about the only too numerous members of Congress then and now who approved of such actions?

Rules To Watch TV By To Get Wives' Approval

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK - Now that nine new rules have been adopted by the National Football League to make the mayhem more palatable, the least the millions who make a ritual of watching the games on television should do is revise their own rules.

For starters, they should pledge to drink no more than a dozen six-packs of beer during each weekend this coming season. Also, they should volunteer or be forced to fetch every other six-pack themselves, instead of demanding that the wife and kids attend to such needs.

They should agree to empty their ashtrays after every fourth hour of viewing. And lift up their feet when the poor wife tries to run the vacuum cleaner on the rug beneath their slippers. They should also be ordered to let the kids turn to "Sesame Street," at least twice during the season, even though it means tuning out the re-run of Howard Cosell debating Dick Young on the right of Tuffy Leemans to enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame at Canton, O.

TV football addicts would be penalized under the new rules for a long list of infractions. Any slob who won't let his wife watch Marshal Dillon on Monday nights will be forced to buy a new set and watch his game in a broom closet. The bum who yells for his breakfast, lunch and dinner to be served to him on his lap, on Super Bowl Sunday, should have same rubbed in his

It is too early for the herons to come for this was mid-April and we are not near the route of the Sandhill cranes.

This fellow was big, contracting and expanding his incredible gray-brown neck. A white streak of feathers seemed to flow back from the beak as if it could have been a very young bird. However, no young birds would be making the journey at this time of year unless there was a very unruly youngster, late to hatch in the South who like Johnathan Seagull wanted to do something no one else had ever done before

He kept his eye on us as he stalked about making lightning-quick stabs with his long beak. Sometimes we would almost lose sight of him against the gray-brown color of the dam bank, especially when he stood silently, watching for a movement in the water. Some motion startled him for he rose clumsily and winged slowly over the hilltop. We waited for him to appear again over the top of the dam and settle nearby but he never did

seventh of a series of articles on candidates in the May 14 primary election.) By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer Armed with Gov. J. James Exon's endorsement, Hastings attorney Gerald Whelan is conducting the most comprehensive lieutenant governor campaign of the 1974 primary elections.

His task: to establish a win-, ning edge over his better known opponents by May 14.

If he succeeds, Whelan will have a happy 49th birthday on Election Day.

"There is only one issue," Whelan contends.

"And that is who would make Jim Exon the best lieutenant governor. "The nature of this job is not issue-oriented. It's simply a question of what the teams are going to look like in November."

Nebraskans this autumn elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team for the first time. So whichever candidate Democratic voters pick for the second spot next month will be teamed with Exon (assuming he turns back primary challenger Richard Schmitz of Lyman) in November.

Choice Clear

Exon has made his choice crystal clear, and the governor and Whelan are attempting to run as "a team" in the primary election.

None of the other candidates is compatible with Exon, Whelan believes, particularly the best known of the lot, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

"I think it's going to come down to either Carpenter or me" in the four-candidate Democratic scrap, Whelan said.

While he is the choice of Exon, Whelan said. Carpenter is the choice of Republican gubernatorial candidate (soon to be nominee) Richard Marvel.

"Dick Marvel wants to make sure Terry gets the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor," Whelan said. "It is Marvel's assessment that his chore (in November) would be made less difficult by the nomination of Carpenter.

"Incompatible" It is Whelan's contention that Carpenter would be an "incompatible" running mate and an "incompatible" Exon lieute-

Carpenter's legislative performance this year was more friendly to Marvel than Exon, Whelan noted.

"Terry only filed for the office because he thinks it may be an easy way to back into the governor's chair," Whelan said.

Political guesswork has centered on the possibility that a re-elected Governor Exon might at mid-term in 1976 make a bid for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Roman Hruska.

the governorship. If he won, he could turn the office over to his Democratic lieutenant governor. But that scenario presumably depends, in part, on who sits in the lieutenant's chair.

Impact Discussed

Thus, the final result of this year's Democratic primary derby for lieutenant governor could have an historic impact on the short-term future of Nebraska politics, Democratic hopes and Jim Exon . . . as well as Jerry Whelan.

(Exon told an educational television network panel of newsmen last week that Whelan is also his choice to succeed him as governor at the end of a second four-year term.)

Whelan says his own private polls indicate that he is running either first or second in each of the three congressional districts. Carpenter shows that kind of strength in two of the districts. while Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton displays similar strength in only one.

So his job, Whelan says, is to build on that base over the final weeks of the campaign. Candidly, he admits, he will need that extra time.

Thus, Whelan is marching through solid campaign days which begin before dawn and continue into the night. He has traveled more than 8,000 miles.

His right hand is swollen and calloused from shaking hands as many, he figures, as 3,500 in a single day timated to cost $25,000.

Total primary costs for the team will reach at least $35,000, according to campaign manager Loren Belker.

Whelan has been at it full time since April 1. Before that he was on the road two-thirds of the time for a month and, prior to that, he made brief forays into vital areas of the state.

was out campaigning with him last week. And the governor joins him here and there for joint appearances. Previous Ventures

Whelan has had two previous ventures into the state's political

In 1960, he won the First District Democratic congressional nomination, but fell to Republican Rep. Phil Weaver in the general election. Whelan won 45% of the vote, running far ahead of Democratic presidential candidate John Kennedy.

In 1970, he sought and won election to the non-partisan State Board of Education, ousting incumbent John Wagoner by 4,262 votes, winning 13 of 14 counties in the process.

Whelan was board president when he resigned last January to enter the lieutenant governor's

Party Posts As a Democrat, he has served as Adams County chairman and in a variety of state party posts.

As for his two best-known Democratic challengers, Carpenter and Burbach, Whelan has said: "I can't think of two senators who have caused more problems for Governor Exon."

Surveying the entire field of opponents, which also includes Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue, he suggests: "If this is a case of the Legislature against the governor, I'm delighted to be on the governor's side.

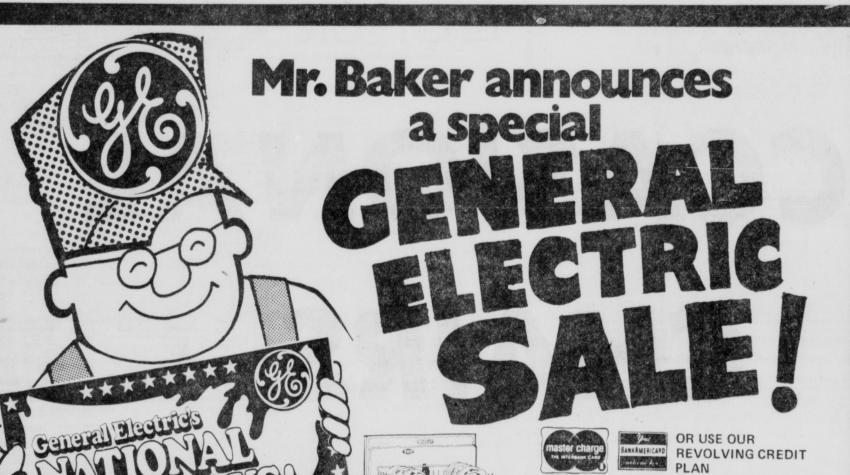

And Whelan hopes to be there, at Exon's side, this autumn.

The proposed course of action represents a response from

According to the resolution, minority students have said: -They feel excluded from the campus mainstream, because they are few in number. -They object to the small number of minority faculty and staff members available for advising and teaching; to "tenuous financial aid for the individual," and to limited funding for ethnic

—They "experience what they consider to be a variety of white racist attitudes in the classroom and throughout the campus com-

are searching to determine how paid by student fees or private sources; "most likely they would not be tax dollars."

> He said the programs would rely not on spending; rather, on increased contributions of time by UNL faculty and staff.

The goals in the proposed course of action include doubling the size of the minority freshman class - to about 130, according to Bader; ensuring financial aid is available to meet the needs of all low-income (minority and white) freshmen and returning students; and developing and funding of minority cultural programming.

Another calls for Bader to form a minority student roundtable representing all minority groups, to meet monthly to advise him of recommendations for classroom and out-of-class

The proposal also would form an affirmative action plan to add "a significant number of minority faculty and staff" during the 1974-75 academic year; and a plan to recruit qualified minority graduate students.

The final goal would create a committee of all-minority UNL faculty to work with Bader in increasing the size of the freshman required to improve the class and improving minority

Swearingen Criticizes 'Total Waste Of Money'

Lancaster County com- the necessary information. missioner candidate William Swearingen lashed out at the present county board Wednesday, charging waste of taxpayers' money and dissension resulting from "lack of trust."

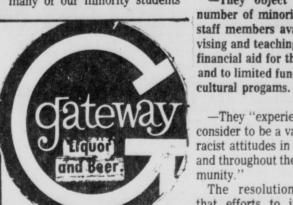

Swearingen, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the post now held by County Board Chairman Robert Colin, said that the county's spending $30,000 to have the federal government determine what type of civil service system would be applicable to county employes is in his opinion a "total waste of money."

He said that the government has this information available by merely paying the cost of printing or copying or sending one man to Washington to obtain all

Swearingen said that he would like to make the county board a "free-thinking board of three specific individuals."

The first dissension between the county board and other department heads and county employes, according to Swearingen, came four years ago when Colin was elected and "many blamed it on a personal clash between him and Bill Grossman.

"Grossman has been out of office for two years, and the insecuirty appears to be even stronger," he said, noting that Colin and Commissioner Jan Gauger, who holds the post formerly held by Grossman. "appear to be running the coun-'v the way they wish.'

Pluta Is To Inspect Reformatory

By The Associated Press
State Fire Marshal Joe Pluta said Wednesday he would inspect the Reformatory at the Penal Complex in response to a request from State Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln.

Pluta said he would order buildings evacuated if he found there was "an extreme and eminent" danger. He said a consulting engineer would have to confirm his findings before an evacuation order was given.

Pluta said an inspection of the Reformatory in January showed the buildings were old and in need of replacement, but did not represent an extreme and eminent danger

The State Health Department said Director Henry D. Smith would announce his decision on Luedtke's request late Wednesday.

Luedtke made the request after his plans to get a replacement for the Reformatory failed. Luedtke had worked out a plan with the governor to replace the Reformatory and the Penitentiary, but the plan was amended by the Legislature and vetoed by the governor.

The Reformatory houses first conviction male inmates.

Pluta said he would begin the inspection early next week and would be looking particularly for cracks in the foundations of the buildings.

He said inspectors had found some deficiencies in the Reformatory in the past, but none of the deficencies were extreme enough to close the faculity.

If problems are serious enough, he said, he would close the facility and let the prison authorities decide where they would move the prisioners.

Late Financial Reports Filed By Candidates

Two more Lancaster County office candidates Wednesday filed with the Lancaster County election commissioner's office a list of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Eugene Schiltz, Democratic candidate for Lancaster County surveyor, the only candidate for that office who had not filed a report by the deadline, listed contributions of $200 and expenditures of $155.

The third Republican candidate for the second district commissioner's post now held by Robert Colin, Bud Irons, listed $700 in contributions and expenditures totaling $1,607.

Neither of the two Republcan candidates seeking to unseat Assessor Fritz Meyer had filed a report Wednesday. Opposing Meyer are Republican candidates John Ratliff and Dan Buckner. No Democrats filed for the post.

Other county candidates who have not yet filed a report are Democratic candidates for sheriff, Johnny Austin and Edward Pierce.

Career-Oriented Programs Are Offered

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a five-part series examining the expanding career choices, with particular emphasis on the opportunities for young women. Today - Roll of the School.

> By LINDA OLIG Star Staff Writer

"A great field for a woman," said a recruiting poster, greeting Shelly Coffey, a Lincoln Northeast junior, as she accompanied three of her peers on a tour of the Nebraska Air National Guard.

The four met with Maj. R. D. Daniell, flight instructor, who explained the eligibility and training requirements for guard pilots, careers in which the student had indicated an interest.

The lecture completed, Daniell turned to Miss Coffey, with the sad news: "The military, or the Air Force, has not seen fit to train women as pilots. But there are other flight jobs for a woman," - such as flight nursing.

However, commercial airlines now awareness which has prompted the schools to launch new career-oriented programs - career days, career education and many other opportunities for increased visibility of career choices.

The opportunities are there, but are the students taking advantage of them?

According to school officials, those programs have been met with only limited success. And the impact has been even less with respect to the young women aggressively looking into those careers not typically associated with for the traditional female courses elementary education, nursing, dental assisting and interior design, said Don Darnell, assistant principal for student services at Lincoln Southeast.

But the females consistently register

He said there exists a "cultural lag" in the students' awareness and acceptance of female breakthroughs into traditionally male-dominated fields.

"They would rather delay" contemplating future plans, observed Charles Hemphill, Southeast counselor. "Some students will do anything to get out of attending" career day discussions.

"It's hard to get people's attention" when careers do not yet seem a reality, said Vernon Williams, University of Nebraska-Lincoln associate professor of educational psychology and measurements and higher education, saying that realistically investigating career options is a matter of maturation.

Diann Bauer, however, is a Southeast sophomore who already is thinking of her future career plans. At the school's career day last week, she attended the segment

She came out of the session with the professional feeling anything but encouraged. "He said forestry is a physically demanding field and recommended that women interested in it should look into recreation instead," Miss Bauer according to Dr. Allen Blezek, coordinator of the public schools' project.

And that school offers visitation or "shadowing" experiences for its students.

Unfortunately, no more than 40 students have taken advantage of that opportunity to become acquainted with persons working in such fields as aviation, law, engineering, veterinary and medical science - and more than half of the participants to date are in the debate class instructed by Jack Mueller, who has encouraged his students to make at least three visitations, Blezek said.

Lincoln High, with the Downtown Rotary Club, offers a series of career luncheons, designed to acquaint students with various career clusters - a variety of occupations available in a single field, said Jerry Gruber, coordinator of out-ofschool learning for the Lincoln Public Schools' Career Education Project.

He said company representatives take special pains to point out opportunities for females in traditionally male fields

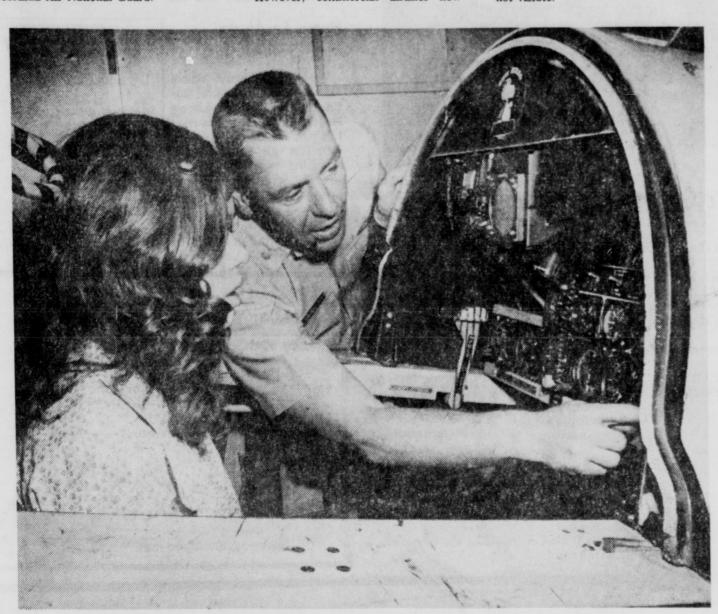

"However, some occupation clusters are more for girls than for boys," he added. "Some jobs, by the very nature of their requirements are male or female. We can wish it weren't so, but until employers change and the community changes, that's the way it is.'

Gates To Adventure Are Opened

To frolic among among the best of nature's flora and fauna-that's just what Christy Stephens and thousands of other Lincoln youngsters have been anticipating for months.

That day finally arrived. Wednesday was the day for the first adventure, 1974, at the Lincoln Children's Zoo.

Soon after the gates of the zoo, operated by the Arnott R. Folsom Zoological Society, were opened, Christy, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stephens, renewed old friendships and established new ones as she scampered through the zoo.

Animals within an arm's length were her favorites. And they were within easy grasp on the zoo's opening day. The animals were glad to have some friendly, two-legged company and Christy was equally delighted to take a peek here, steal a touch there and even shush those threatening to disturb the pleasure of the visit.

The Children's Zoo will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays; 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays through Labor Day.

'Free To Be . . . You And Me'

There's something to be said for not dressing your cat in an apron, "just 'cause he's learning to bake." And, likewise, a horse shouldn't be in a nightgown, "just 'cause he can't

Why certainly, you say. What an absurd idea. Who ever thought of dressing a horse in a nightgown, just 'cause But wait a minute. Our entire culture is constructed around that holier-than-holy premise — "just 'cause." Mrs. American housewife buys Brand Q Oleomargarine ... just 'cause her mother used it. Father goes to work in a shirt and tie . . . just 'cause fathers have been going to work that way for generations.

Child Number One plays with a football . . . just 'cause he's a boy; and his sibling plays with a doll . . . just 'cause . . . you guessed it.

Sometimes it takes a little absurdity, a little fantasy, to make us see how silly we act.

And that's what "Free To Be . . . You And Me" (McGraw-Hill) is all about: It's an invitation to people to examine their lifestyles - sometimes by way of fantasy, sometimes not - so they can see what a cultural/social rut

It should be added that "people" is here defined in the broadest sense of the word. "People" takes in everyone, and, although the book was written for children, grownups will enjoy it and learn from it too.

In fact, come to think about it, maybe it's grownups who will benefit most from "Free To Be . . . " For it is they who have all the preconceived notions about who-should-dowhat; how-you-should-act-when; and what-you-should-wear-

Notions which are assiduously handed down to their offspring, so that the whole vicious circle is repeated, ad in-

At any rate, whoever takes the time to read the bookor the time to have it read to them - will be greatly rewarded.

Seldom has so much diverse talent been brought together in creating a single book. Contributors include the likes of Steve Lawrence, Dan Greenburg, Bruce Hart, Carl Reiner and Shel Silverstein.

And Marlo Thomas, Gloria Steinem and Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. have penned some comments placed before and after what goes in between.

That "in between" is comprised of poems and stories (some written by children), songs for playing and singing, art work, and some pieces that can't be classified as any of the

There's a dog who's a plumber (is it a "he?" He likes his little play stove too.); a father who's a cellist, and a mother who's a rancher. There's "No One Else" (who can "tell you what to like"); a princess who's "living happily ever after," despite the fact that she may or may not get married; a nonsexist take-off on the well-known poem, "What Are Little Boys/Girls Made Of?"; and a delightful song extolling the benefits of crying ("It's all right to cry, crying gets the sad out of you.")

There are things you can play (on the piano - or kazoo, if you like), things you can sing, things you can read, things you can look at - and lots and lots to think about.

Like what Kurt Vonnegut says in his afterward: "A first grader should understand that his or her culture isn't a rational invention . . . that there are lots of alternatives to our own society. Cultural relativity is defensible and attractive. It's also a source of hope. It means we don't have to continue this way if we don't like it.

Forecast For Thursday

Virgo can be a combination of sharp criticism and soft, understanding murmurs. Like Gemini and Aquarius, this sign is elusive, hard to catalogue, almost impossible t thwart, capable of getting up from a fall and climbing to the heights. The key words for this native are work and service — but the Mercury planet means the work is of a penetrating, analytical nature and the service is unique, involves communication and results in hobnobing with the high and the mighty as well as the low and lonely. Virgo is the Sixth House and these natives are aware of health, achievement and are willing to battle for principles. Some lavish praise on Virgo while others regard these persons in the negative, "not my cup of tea," perspective. It all depends on who does the looking — or tasting.

Applause For Rozelle

That glorious institution that provides the impetus for fulfillment of the Great American Dream where the poor and downtrodden can pull themselves up by their bootstraps if they're gifted with an utter disregard for their own body and the health of others has cracked down again.

The National Football League, ruled with an ironclad hand by Pete Rozelle who wields a mighty axe at the heads of wrong-doers, has provided fame and fortune for many individuals and built enough heros in the Jack Armstrong All-American boy image to give every youth a hero or individual to identify with. But lately, those heros have been found to have the proverbial feet of clay. The gilt-edged shine of their clean-cut image has become tarnished with antics and problems that go against the Mom's Apple Pie ideology long associated with it.

Rember Lance Rentzel who breeched several codes by exposing himself and eventually being placed on probation for drug violation? And how about Peck's Bad Boy, Joe Don Looney, who's last name typified the kind of trouble he continually was the recipient of? Don't forget Paul Hornung and Alex Karras who committed the unforgiveable transgression of placing a small and nominal wager on their own teams with cigar-chomping agents of the Black Guard.

Now Rozelle has again weeded out yet another problem. Eight veteran players, general manager Harland Svare and owner Eugene Klein of the San Diego Chargers have been fined a total of $40,000 and placed on probation for violation of the NFL's drug policy. It was the first such action since the league announced last June that it was strengthening its anti-drug policy.

Although Rozelle disclosed no details, Svare reportedly said: "Everybody knows we're talking about marijuana." Marijuana! Only marijuana amidst all the brilliantly-hued pharmaceutical supplies that abound in training rooms?

Maybe. But it wasn't too long ago that former player Houston Ridge filed suit against the Chargers claiming improperly administered drugs caused an injury that ended his career in 1969. He settled the suit for $300,000 but sworn statements filed during the case accused the team of passing out as many as 10,000 pills in a single year.

Then last November the California Board of Medical Examiners and Board of Pharmacy investigated the team and discovered that although drug controls had tightened, drug use was even worse than in 1969.

Now the bell has tolled for eight players of that team. Defensive end Deacon Jones and linebacker Tim Rossovich have been fined $3,000 each; wide receiver Jerry Levias and defensive linemen Coy Bacon and Dave Costa $2,000 each; and linebacker coach Rick Redman, running back Bob Thomas and guard Walt Sweeney $1,000 each. Svare was hit for $5,000 and Klein with $20,000.

Svare reportedly failed to exercise proper supervisory controls and Klein "for supervisory omissions by (the Chargers') administrative staff." But each said he had no independent evidence of drug abuse even though Klein hired a private investigator last year to check allegations made against certain members of the team.

But what happens now? Will football begin to take on the blackened image professional boxing did in the Twenties and Thirties when it was linked to the underworld? Or is it strong and powerful enough to ride the crest of the wave of public outcry and condemnation?

Fortunately, the NFL has Rozelle. Damned by many as being unfair and unwilling to reach arbitration on contract disputes, Rozelle, nevertheless, is quite willing to take a stand on anything that may dim the luster of the sport. He is not willing to sit idly by and let things take a natural course.

Undoubtedly, Rozelle's ruling will be challenged. They all are. But none of the players with the exception of Sweeney have denied the charges made against them.

Now the only thing that remains to be seen is precisely how long the probation will be. Anybody occupying the limelight of an All-American hero and establishing himself as the type of individual for today's youths should be willing to conduct himself in an appropriate manner. With any luck, the probation will last a long time. A long time indeed.

Almost two full days of testimony from Cowboys' players, coaches and officials preceded Long's ruling and before he made it he took time out to deliver what he himself termed a sermon.

'As a court of equity we are concerned about the mores and what has taken place in commerce, business and particularly in the field of athletic endeavor," the judge said.

"It is to be regretted that physical ability and a proper application of wonderful physical attributes has finally become a matter of barter. Purchase and sale, if you please.

During the final phases of testimony Schramm had said he felt the Cowboys had been damaged, potentially at the ticket window, by the fact that running backs Calvin Hill and Mike Montgomery and quarterback Craig Morton had signed with the WFL.

Star Sports Editor

"I was more disappointed George Mills, Mike Jerry Wied, Dean G with practice today than I've been for a long time," Coach Tom Osborne said after his Nebraska Cornhuskers had their final contact session Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's intrasquad football game.

"It looked like a few of the guys think spring ball is over, but it isn't," Osborne added. "The defense played a little better, but the offense didn't do quite as well. There wasn't the effort we've had previously."

Perhaps this is a common malady on college football teams as players hope to avoid injury so they'll be able to play in the spring game.

Osborne announced the squad division which finds the No. 1 and No. 4 units teaming against the No. 2 and No. 3 teams for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff in Memorial Stadium.

"It should be reasonably even," Osborne believes. "The first offense and defense should win, but they won't play much over a half a game so the 2's and 3's could make it close.

The 1's and 4's will wear Red shirts.

"There have been times some of the spring games have been very onesided with the same breakdown of players,' Osborne recalled. "Yet, the Whites won a couple of years ago in a sloppily played games in the rain. Spring games are hard to predict.

Osborne said he would be disappointed if the first offense doesn't move the ball consistently and disappointed if the first defense doesn't stop the second and third teams.

An 11th-hour move by Churchill Downs to ease the traffic jam by doubling the purse for an alternate race Saturday apparently removed only one prospect from the field, Mrs. Herman Udouj's Silver Hope.

Most Successful

Grand Island — Al Swihart sees nothing but success for Fonner Park.

"I'm sure we'll hit a $600,000 day next year (in mutuel handle)," said the general manager of the Grand Island track which just completed its most successful season in its 21 years. "I really thought we'd do it this year on Derby Day. I'm sure we'll do $600,000 next year."

That was probably the only mark Fonner didn't achieve this year. All previous records were erased this season — attendance, every mutuel handle mark, highest purses paid to horsemen — highest single race, etc.

The total mutuel handle was up 13.2% from last year while attendance increased only slightly - 1.2%. And that is undoubtedly the most puzzling aspect to this year's Fonner meeting.

"That bothers me," Swihart said. "I can't put my finger on it. But that's been happening the past three years. One thing is that the people that are coming are spending a lot more money here. But why that's happening, I wish I knew.

'Eliminating free passes might be part of the reason the crowds haven't grown like the handle has," he said. This is the second year we haven't given out free passes But we still had 50,000 50-cent passes, but the real horseplayers aren't going to stop coming to the track because they have to spend 50 cents to get in.

Impressive Figures

Going into the final week of this year's meeting, the handle was up 14.8 per cent over last year. However, Fonner always tallies off some during its final week as the Omaha-Lincoln horseplayers wait for Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha to open.

The per capita daily average rose from $63.74 last year to $71.31 this year. All of which comes to the obvious question - What were the reasons for this year's successful meeting?

"We had much better quality horses this year and the better the horses, the more the handle will go up,' Swihart said. "We had weekday features this year that a few years ago we'd be lucky to get as Saturday features.

'We had fantastic weather this year . . . we only had a few bad days," he said. "In fact, 30 of the 40 days we had fast tracks. And the other days were good tracks. We didn't have a single muddy track since it went from sloppy to slow this year on our new track.

Swihart also praised racing secretary Dean Williams for producing quality programs. And he also had nothing but compliments for the horsemen.

"We had tremendous cooperation from the horsemen," he said. "We didn't get a single complaint from the horsemen and they really helped us this year like they always do.'

One thing Swihart didn't mention which probably had as much to do with the success this year as anything was the attitude of the Fonner Park management.

Those associated with Nebraska racing know that Swihart and his ace assistant, Hugh Miner have constantly striven for the best product. They've attempted to give Fonner Park a quality name yet with enough concern so it's not a nameless corporation like so many major race tracks.

Fonner Park is fortunate to have those two leaders on its team. Maybe that's the biggest reason for the tremendous increases that Fonner has shown the past few years.

Padres Spill Expos; Yankees Down A's

Rookie Dave Freisleben pitched a four-hitter for his second victory in as many major league starts as the surprising San Diego Padres beat the Montreal Expos 5-1 Wednesday for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Freisleben also slammed a double, his first major league hit, starting a four-run uprising in the third inning against Ernie McAnally. The inning also included Matty Alou's RBI single, a pair of bases-loaded walks and Fred Kendall's sacrifice fly.

In his debut last Friday, Freisleben, a 22-year-old righthander, went the route for a four-hit victory over Philadelphia

In other daytime action, the New York Yankees edged the Oakland A's 4-3, the San Francisco Giants outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies 13-8 and the California Angels shaded the Boston Red Sox 4-2.

Bobby Murcer and Ron Blomberg started the eighth inning with consecutive doubles off Catfish Hunter, enabling the Yankees to nip Oakland. Blomberg tied the score 3-3 with a sixth-inning homer. Joe Rudi homered for the A's, who have lost three straight games by identical 4-3 scores.

Consecutive doubles by Garry Maddox, Bobby Bonds and Steve Ontiveros sparked a ninerun fifth-inning rally that powered the Giants over the Phillies. The Giants sent 15 batters to the plate in the fifth, overcoming a 6-3 Philadelphia lead with six hits and six bases on balls.

Houston Gains Series Title

St. Paul (AP) - Jim Sherrit sent the Houston Aeros into the finals of the World Hockey Association playoffs with a bitterly disputed goal Wednesday night as the Aeros defeated the Minnesota Fighting Saints 3-1.

Houston captured the best-ofseven series 4-2. The Aeros won three consecutive games after Minnesota had held a two games to one advantage.

Karpov, Spassky Battle To Draw

Moscow (AP) - Anatoly Karpov. playing black, battled former world champion Boris Spassky to a draw Wednesday in the eighth game of their semifinal challengers chess match and maintained a 2-1 lead.

Spassky offered the draw after 39 moves in Leningrad and his 23-year-old opponent accepted. Five of the games have been

In the other semifinal match, Tigran Petrosian was trailing 1-3 when he became ill and withdrew to put Viktor Korchnoi into the final against the winner of the Spassky-Karpov contest. The winner of the elimination matches will meet world champion Bobby Fischer next year.

CHAMPAGNE-A TOUCH OF CLASS Since 1709 when a blind Monk made the accidental discovery of a sparkling wine we now know as CHAMPAGNE, it has been considered the finest of all vinous beverages. The term

"CHAMPAGNE" is actually a generic term and refers to the district in France where this remarkable beverage is made. And only sparkling wine made in this district can truly be called CHAMPAGNE. Many wine making countries produce sparkling wine but it is only the United States makers of sparkling wine which refuse to recognize France's claim to the term: "CHAMPAGNE"; and continue to label our sparkling wine Champagne. Vast quantities of sparkling wine are made in Germany-in fact, the Germans are the world's largest consumers of this type of wine, but the German variety is called "Sekt". Italy too, makes large quantities of sparkling wine whichsthey call: "Asti-Spumonti"-very low in alcoholic

The first champagne made was sweet and the British who were France's best customers insisted that the sweetness be removed. It was the French firm of Pommery and Greno which has been given the credit for making this change in the taste of CHAMPAGNE, and when the "dry" sparkling wine became available it gained immediate popularity and today is the undisputed king of all beverages. It is the only wine which may be served from appetizer to dessert and with any food and at any time. It is the most sophisticated of all wines and is symbolic of the best in everything-strictly a class drink. Whatever the event, from

Most CHAMPAGNE is made from the Pinot Noir grape—the same grape used in making the finest Burgundies. The finest CHAMPAGNE—that labelled Blanc de Blanc—and

Brut-is made entirely from the Pinot Chandonnay grape. All CHAMPAGNES are blends and all Vintage CHAMPAGNE and BLANC de BLANC CHAMPAGNE is labelled: "Brut"-

Toronto (AP) - Left-winger Jack Gibson's first goal of the playoffs early in the third period snapped a tie and the Toronto Toros went on to score a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cougars Wednesday night in the semifinals of the Wold Hockey Association playoffs.

The victory moved the Toros into a 3-2 lead in their best-ofseven series with game No. 5 set for Saturday night in Chicago.

NL Run Production Highest Since 1962

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) National League baseball games in April produced an average of 9.26 runs, an increase of 21 per cent in scoring compared to the same period last year, statistics released Wednesday

National League President Chub Feeney said the 1974 early scoring pace was the highest since 1962. In the opening weeks of last season, the league scoring average was 7.62 runs a game.

Special Session Request Is Urged

. . . Obscenity Law Cited

Fremont (AP) - City Atty. Lyle Gill wants the Fremont City Council to contact Gov. J. J. Exon and request a special session of the Legislature.

Gill made the recommendation at Tuesday night's council meeting as part of a status report on Fremont's antitopless ordinance.

The council decided to take no action on the recommendation until its next meeting May 14. Gill's recommendation stems from an obscenity law, LB815, passed by the 1974 Legislature. The bill takes away from cities the authority to determine what is obscene and gives such authority to the state.

Gill said he wants the special session called so that the Unicameral can consider limiting the number of bills each senator can introduce in a ses-

Officials from Nebraska and South Dakota will appear before the House subcommittee, he a House subcommittee in said he, as Gov. J. J. Exon's of-Washington Thursday asking that work begin the next fiscal year on a Missouri River bank stablization project above Sioux City, Iowa.

"Both states are concerned about this because some people are losing half their land," Dayle Williamson, executive secretary of the Nebraska Natural Resource Commission, told United Press International in an interview.

Williamson said before the House public works subcommittee is a request from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for another $70,000 to continue studying the matter for at least another year.

However, he said, "we think this is waiting too long.'

"The two states feel the corps should move into the construction stage and we are going to abatement plans. see if we can't reach some agree-

Prior to the appearance before ficial representative, will meet with a representative of South Dakota Gov. Richard Kneip to settle on a dollar figure for construction. Williamson said the problem is acute from Nebraska's standpoint. He said he knows of some people who have lost 40 to 80 acres of land due to bank erosion along the Missouri.

South Dakota, he added, faces a problem some might consider even more serious than just the loss of land.

'Sacred Heart Hospital at Yankton has been placed in danger," Williamson said.

The bank erosion problem has been under study for some years, the official noted, and at one time channelization of the river above Sioux City for barge traffic was considered in erosion channel idea has been dropped Nebraska, under the administration of Gov. Norbert Tiemann, favored the idea of having barge traffic above Sioux

But Williamson said environmentalists challenged the project on the grounds it would ruin the natural state of the river, having harmful effects particularly on wildlife.

Subsequently, Exon withdrew Nebraska's support of the channel project.

'So, what we're talking about right now is strictly a bank stabilization project — no barge traffic," Williamson said.

More Trips Announced By Frontier

Additional beefed up service for Lincolnites was announced by Frontier Airlines Wednesday.

The airline will offer a flight to Scottsbluff, a westbound flight to Grand Island and a morning flight to Kansas City, Ken Woods, Frontier district sales manager announced.

Those flights are in addition to increase service announced by Frontier Tuesday to St. Louis, Denver and Las Vegas.

All new changes go into effect June 1

In addition to the new flights. Frontier will relocate a maintenance base in Lincoln.

A three-man crew will be responsible for servicing a Boeing 737 jet that will be based in Lincoln for use on Frontier's flight to Dallas. Woods said the crew also will handle major repair jobs and other aircraft maintenance.

Frontier relocated the team to Kansas City four or five years ago, Woods said.

The new round of flight increases will give Lincoln area residents six westbound and five eastbound flights, Woods said.

The reinstated flight to Kansas City will start in Scottsbluff at 6:13 a.m., stopping in North Platte and Grand Island before arriving in Lincoln at 9:13 a.m. That plane will continue on to Kansas City, arriving at 10:06

The new westbound flight to Grand Island will originate in Omaha at 10:05 p.m., arrive in Lincoln at 10:51 p.m. and arrive in Grand Island at 11:34 p.m. The flight terminates there, Woods said.

And another westbound jet will depart Kansas City at 5:30 p.m. and arrive in the Capital City at 6:15 p.m. That flight will then go to Omaha, Grand Island, North Platte, arriving in Scottsbluff at 10:36 p.m.

New York (AP) -

New York (AP) - Stock market prices ran into a hot streak Wednesday, but volume was too low to make the rally very significant, brokers said.

Stock Mart

Prices Soar;

Volume Light

The Dow Jones industrial average, up over 20 points at 3 p.m., closed at 853.88, up 17.13. Advances led declines 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. But volume for the day was 15.12 million shares, light for a rally as many investors, believing that gains would be short term and losses would come soon, stayed out of the market.

Brokers said the groundwork for the rally was laid by the big declines last week, the failure of the much-touted inflationary price bulge to materialize once controls were lifted Tuesday, and the present reluctance of many corporations to offer bond issues because the interest they would have to pay investors on the bonds was too high. This may be a sign that rates either were at their top or near it, and that the 103/4 per cent prime posted. Wednesday by most major banks might be the top of the spiral of interest rates.

The big points were added to the rally by the large funds, heavy with cash which rushed midafternoon into the market in a throng afraid of missing the beginning of the next bull market, brokers said.

Con Edison was the Big Board's most-actively traded stock, up 36 to 9%, followed by INA Corp., off 1/4 at 30%, boosted onto the most-active stock list by a 197,000-share block. Citicorp, First National City Bank's parent company, added 3/4 to close at 411/2, Flying Tiger was unchanged at 15/2, and the Standard Oil of California rose 15/6 to close at 3036, boosted by a 25,000-share block traded to 303%. American Motors fell 3/8 to 75/8 after the American Motors fell % to 7% after the company reported lower quarterly earnings than many analysts expected.

Bausch & Lomb rose 13% to 25% after losses totaling more than $3 a share during the last two sessions. The losses came after the FDA gave permission to a competitive company to make and market the soft lens, breaking Bausch & Lomb's monopoly on the product.

CNA Financial did not open all day on the New York Stock Exchange. The company reported heavy first-quarter losses and is threatened by a tender offer from Loews Corp. for controlling shares of CNA. Loews said it would offer shareholders substantially higher prices for their stock than present market value, but the CNA board said it would fight actively and proposed tender offer and try to keep CNA independent.

Among other popularly watched on the popularly watched averages, the NYSE broad-based index rose 99 to 48.92.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .96 to 90.67, and in over-the-counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index added .77 to close at 87.63.

Playboy Ups Single Copy Cost By 25¢

Chicago (AP) - Playboy Enterprises Inc. announced a price increase from $1.00 to $1.25 for single copies of Playboy magazine effective with the July issue which goes on sale June 13.

Price of the larger December and January holiday issues was increased from $1.50 to $1.75. The price of an annual subscription will remain unchanged.

The increase resulted from higher cost of quality paper, ink, printing and distribution, a spokesman said. Playboy claims a circulation of 6.5 million.

Commodities Sharply Lower

Chicago (AP) — Farm commodity futures closed sharply lower on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, except for two of the minor pits.

Old crop wheat futures were down the 20 cent limit at one time but closed a few pennies off the bottom. Soybeans were down about 14 cents and also closed a shade higher. Soybean oil had a decline of 100 points. the limit for one session, but meal gained about $4 a ton.

Corn futures, down the limit of 10 cents around noon, also 37.50-40.25.

Cattle Prices Fully Steady

Omaha, Neb. (AP) - Good demand and improvement in overall quality of the cattle outlay here Wednesday prompted fully steady prices for slaughter steers and heifers.

Receipts of around 6,000 head, all slaughter offerings, ran to around 90 per cent fed steers and heifers with numerous loads of heavy steers noted.

A wide variation in prices was noted on choice and prime cattle. Lighter weights 1.075-1.225 lbs collected 41.00-41.75, a load 1,150 lbs at 41.75. Several loads 1,275-1,398 lbs were noted at USLeas 94d 10 of their regular educational program in the fall. The school district Wednesday received a $4,000 federal grant to plan the program, called EPIC — Educational Participation in the Community - according to James P. Leestma, career education systems planning specialist.

The May-July grant from ACTION, The umbrella agency for federal volunteer programs, stipulates a $3,100 nonfederal share from the school district that requires no cash outlay; instead, an equivalent amount of in-kind services.

The district may possibly "reapply for funds to operate the program in the fall, based on our experience in the planning phase," said Leestma, who will work half-time as a planning

The project got underway Wednesday, he said, with a planning meeting of a coalition representing community service and government agencies, school officials, students and poor people

This will be a joint effort by students and the community," Leestma said, noting that no curriculum additions will be mandated strictly by the school district.

EPIC "will be targeted at Lincoln High in terms of curriculum units to support the experiences," he said, but emphasized that "the placement services will be available to all students within the district.'

Curriculum units will relate how skills learned in classes can be applied in human services, he said. Short-term units will include how to become a volunteer, what it means and what kinds of skills are required.

"We hope that the community agencies will assist us by providing in-service training for the volunteers that we send there," he said.

EPIC will involve "students from all areas," not just those with social sciences backgrounds, Leestma said. For example, home economics majors could volunteer for homemaker assistance programs; vocational education students for playground repair.

"This is not something new," Leestma pointed out, noting the district has conducted similar programs. But under EPIC, he said, "We will make a consolidated effort now to pull those experiences we've had together and form a program.'

EPIC will also relate to the career education concept, allowing students to explore human services careers, with particular emphasis on poverty and poverty-related ser-

During the planning stage, the coalition will establish program goals and identify the volunteer opportunities in Lincoln; for example, what hours and duties are required, what skills are necessary.

Leestma said EPIC will also assess students' desires - working hours they prefer, skills they can contribute, services they're interested in. The program will also compile a pool of student volunteers' names.

EPIC will allow for "curriculum infusion," developing courses based on student experiences in human services agencies, he said. Further, the staff will plan volunteer short courses and work with the agencies to develop instructional methods

At the end of July, Leestma said the district will use information gathered in the planning stages to submit a statement of feasibility for EPIC and apply for a continuation grant.

Because of another retirement in the Lincoln Police Department, appointment of a new assistant chief will be delayed Wednesday. Lt. Melvin Dorn, 59, a veteran of 35 years in the department, is retiring to become bailiff for Municipal Court on May 27. Dorn had been designated as 'court officer' for the depart-

Dorn will replace Al Delaney, who was recently appointed court constable by Municipal Judge Jan Gradwohl.

Carroll had said earlier that a replacement for Assistant Chief Willis Manchester, who retired last month, and related promotions would be announced by May 1.

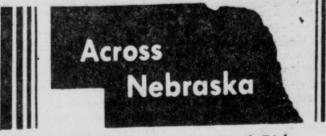

In light of the new retirement, however, Carroll said, "We've got to jockey things around again.

Near 1,050 Horses Take Trail Ride

Maywood - An estimated 1,050 horses, some carrying two riders, were counted on the 17-mile annual Maywood Trail Ride through the canyon country of northwest Frontier County. Riders from Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Minnesota, California and Alabama took part in the 15th annual event. Harry Corlett, who served as trail boss, originated the ride 15 years ago when he took 86 4-H club members and friends out for a Sunday ride.

New Mead Junior-Senior High Dedicated

Mead — Dedication ceremonies were held here for the new Mead Junior-Senior High School, located on a 35-acre plot on the north edge of town. The 200 students moved into the new structure in February, while kindergarten through sixth grade students are now using the old high school. Voters approved a $970,000 school bond issue two years ago giving the green light to the construction.

Baker, Bohmont Cited At Beef Meet

Denver - Dr. Frank H. Baker, chairman of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Animal Science, and Marvin Bohmont of Bohmont Herefords, Martell, Neb., were among those receiving special recognition at the annual awards banquet of the national Beef Improvement Federation in Denver. Baker, currently BIF secretary, was given an Outstanding Service Award for his work in organizing beef improvement programs. Bohmont was admitted to the 1974 BIF Honor Roll of Excellence for Seedstock

Pair Plead Guilty To Cattle Stealing

Holdrege (AP) — William E. Fulmer and William Eugene See both of Holdrege, entered pleas of guilty before District Judge Norris Chadderdon Wednesday to cattle stealing charges. They were charged with illegally removing six steers from pens at the Holdrege Livestock Market on or about April 23. The steers were recovered. Judge Chadderdon deferred sentencing. See was released on $1,000 bond and Fulmer was held in lieu of bond.

Baton Twirling Contest Planned

Fairbury - Southeast Community College at Fairbury will host a May 11 National Baton Twirling Association contest. Mrs. Connie Allen of Washington, Kan., will direct the contest in the Fairbury High School gymnasium. The contest, open to all twirlers with no territorial limitations, will begin at 9 a.m.

SENCA Board Election Slated

Humboldt - Four low-income representatives from each of Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson counties will be elected this month to serve one-year terms on the Southeast Nebraska Community Action Council's board of directors. One-third of the directors are representatives of the low-income residents. SENCA's programs, policies, and staff are reviewed and governed by the

Trucker's Life 'Really Rough'

By LIANE GUENTHER

Star Staff Writer Doug Duff is an independent trucker. And in his words, "It's rough, it's really rough.'

Along with thousands of truck owners across the country, the Bennet trucker has been caught in the ever-tightening squeeze of rising operating costs and administrative efforts to keep prices down.

-Duff, 31, has been driving trucks for almost nine years. About two years ago he decided to buy his own rig.

Now he has six trucks, or "six headaches," as he refers to

Besides trying to appease the finance company and pay five drivers, he has to support his wife. Shirrale, and three small children, Linda 7, Jim, 6, and Doug Jr., 4.

"Everything's just about nip and tuck as it is now," he said. "Hell, everything I've got's mortgaged. It gets down to zilch once in awhile."

Duff said he has had several rate increases in the past year, but "if diesel fuel goes up another penny or two, it'll just about take care of the increases we have now.

"We don't want to make bigger profits," he said, "we just want to make a fair profit."

For the months of December and January, he said he operated at a loss. Since the rate increases, he's "running in the black, but not making any return on my investments.

"I'd be better off to put money in the bank," he said. "If you make 1 or 2% right now, you're a pretty efficient operator. I believe." he said.

But like the majority of independent truckers in the state,

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha has written pointment of Nebraska Warden Charles Wolff in

DUFF . . . owner of 'six headaches.

Duff doesn't want to strike May 13, unless the shutdown is 100% nationwide.

"If a few keep truckin'. nothing will ever come to a head," he said.

Besides, he would lose more

"If we go (on strike) for a week, it'll take two months to catch up and break even with the board again," he said "That first strike really hurt

Yeh, you could say I definitely lost money." The biggest question he faces now is whether he can afford to stay in business. Duff said that if he doesn't get the rate increases he needs, he may give up and go on welfare.

'Nixon's taking care of the ou companies; he might as well take care of us, too.'

He figures he's "pretty lucky" to get paid 50 cents a mile for an average run between the Midwest and the East Coast.

On the other hand, it's costing him about 43 cents a mile to keep a rig on the road. he said. and that's not counting emergen-

"I just had a truck break down in Pennsylvania." he said. The fan went through the radiator. That bill was $917, pius his driver was tied up three days waiting for repairs.

"That just about takes care of any profits for a whole month," he said.

To top it off, an overhaul on that same truck, only 6,200 miles before, had set him back another

When he thinks of rising costs for diesel fuel, tires, oil, food and repairs, he can only moan and shake his head

"I just wonder when and how it's all going to end." he said. Diesel fuel is up from 24 to around 48 to 50 cents a gallon; repairs cost 30-40% more than a year and a half ago and tires are up another 38%, he lamented

"And the truckstops have hopped right on the wagon. Grease jobs, service work, tire repair, labor, everything's higher," he said.

"On the road it's take it or leave it. If it falls apart 15 miles down the road, there's nothin' we can do

"They believe in a 30-90 guarantee." he said, cracking half a smile . . . "30 feet or 90 seconds."

The 55-mile-an-hour speed limit has cut his mileage from around five miles to the gallon to a little better than four, he said It also means he loses revenue from at least one load a week

Duff said (in so many words) that the state patrols have been cracking down pretty hard on speeders lately.

While trucking across Iowa last week, a distance of about 300 miles, he said he spotted 48 troopers, six sets of radar and an airplane overhead clocking drivers.

His trucks are not equipped with citizen band (CB) radios vet. He said he's going to get them, even at an average cost of $170 a truck

"I'd just like to add one more thing," he told a reporter "You don't have to be crazy to drive or own a truck, but it sure as hell neips

President To Be Told He's In Noncompliance

. . . Tapes, Not Transcripts, Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) -Sharply splitting along party lines, the House impeachment inquiry voted Wednesday night to tell President Nixon he has " failed to comply" with its subpoena for Watergate tapes

MAY 2, 1974

The committee approved 20 to 18 with only one Republican ioining Democrats in voting to send Nixon a letter saying that he has failed to comply by publicly releasing edited transcripts rather than turning over subpoenaed tapes. Two Democrats joined Republicans in voting no

Rep Jerome R Waldie D-Calit . laid groundwork for possibly citing non-compliance as an impeachable offense against the President in the tuture

Waldie asked special impeachment counsel John Doar if the President's willful refusal to comply with the House subpoena is an impeachable offense and Doar replied | I believe it could be an impeachable offense under these circumstances

But Republicans contended that President Nixon has substantially complied with the subpoena by publicly releasing transcripts that they contended in some cases are better than the tapes themselves

Committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. D-N J. said "the President has not complied with our subpoena '

The committee approved a simple letter proposed by Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., to the President from Rodino saying that as of 10 a m Tuesday, the subpoena's deadline. "You have failed to comply with the committee's subpoena

A proposal by Rep William S Cohen. R-Maine, that the letter say the President's transcripts "do not represent full compliance' and seek more access to the tapes themselves was rejected on a procedural vote 27 to 11.

Cohen's letter would have advised the President that the committee would have to have its lawvers review the original tapes, have the opportunity "to verify the authenticity of the tapes' and in some cases let the tuli committee hear the original

Earlier in the evening, Rodino had rejected Nixon's proposal that only he and Hutchinson

"I did not consider my vote for the subpoena to be an idle vote? Cohen said "The information that our equipment is better only confirms my own opinion that we should have access to the tapes

In related developments -Sources said the Senate Watergate committee's report on Watergate may be delayed because of the White House transcripts released this week

-At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L Warren said the "over-all reaction" to Nixon's disclosures "has been very good . . . it has been generally very well received throughout the country." He turned aside specific questions related to the transcribed conversations, saving that the material should be judged "on its totality and not on any phrase or passage "

Washington (AP) - The Senate voted 57 to 31 Wednesday to kill an attempt to revive wageprice controls on a standby basis for another year. However, it adopted 44 to 41 another part of an anti-inflation package advanced by three Democratic senators which would give President Nixon power to monitor price and wage hikes through the Cost of Living Council or some other

The President also would have authority to enforce commitments made by industries when they entered into decon-

trol agreements. The Nixon administration said earlier Wednesday that it will seek to enforce anti-inflation commitments made by several hundred business firms, even though its wage and price controls program has expired.

A White House statement. prepared but not issued, said the Cost of Living Council will continue as an economy monitoring agency through June 30, with authority to gather information on wages and prices.

But it said it was abolishing immediately the Committee on Interest and Dividends, a group which has sought to restrain dividend payments by corporations and interest charges by banks on consumer loans.

Wage and price controls expired at Tuesday midnight except for those applying to petroleum products.

The unsuccessful proposal in the Senate would have given President Nixon power to impose controls on a selective basis for the next year on segments of the economy where he found a serious inflationary danger to

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate on Wednesday passed a far-reaching bill requiring the states to adopt no-fault automobile insurance

On a 53-42 vote, senators gave final approval to the measure demanding that automobile insurance in each state guarantee compensation to accident victims regardless of who caused the accident The bill, opposed by the Nixon administration.

Sponsors, led by Sens Frank Moss, D-Utah, say

ment of medical, rehabilitation and loss-of-wage benefits arising from traffic accidents. The bill, attacked as unconstitutional, also would bar a victim or his survivors from suing the other driver's insurance company for "pain and suffering" unless he died, was seriously and permanerally injured or was totally disabled for more than 90 days. Opponents contended that each state should be allowed to adopt the type of auto insurance best suited to its needs

The only federal responsibility under the no-fault bill would be to see that each state plan meets the federal standards - that is that it assures minimum benefits to victims and restricts the right

Sponsors claim the federal no-fault plan could reduce premiums in every state by something less than 33 per cent. Opponents attacked the figures and predicted no-fault would raise insurance rates in many states Within four years after Congress finally passes the bill, every state would have to enact a no-fault plan meeting the federal standards

Twenty-two states now have some form of nofault insurance The federal standards require that every motorist buy a no-fault policy compensating himself and his family for

Nixon's Lawyers Hint Showdown Ahead

Washington (AP) - President Nixon's lawyers moved to quash a prosecution subpoena Wednesday and hinted strongly they are moving toward a Supreme Court showdown over whether the White House must give any more tapes and documents to Watergate investigators.

In a motion filed in U.S. District Court, the President's attorneys asked Judge John J. Sirica to quash a subpoena seeking tapes and records of 64 White House conversations for use by the Watergate special prosecutor in the cover-up trial of seven defendants.

A spokesman for the office of special prosecutor Leon Jaworski said the White House motion would be resisted. A hearing was set for Thursday morning in Sirica's courtroom.

"Yes, we will resist," the prosecutor's office said. "This is material we need. We will do everything we have to secure it."

While White House chief Watergate Lawyer James St. Clair at a news conference earlier in the day had avoided a direct answer to questions about a Supreme Court fight, the motion filed later indicated he was preparing to take the battle to the high court.

In the motion, St. Clair raised some points of law which he said he was not pressing at this point but was mentioning them "in order that they may be preserved should it be necessary for this case to reach a court in which Nixon vs. Sirica is not a controlling precedent."

The only court through which this case could normally pass in which the Nixon vs. Sirica case of last fall is not controlling would be the Supreme Court.

In the earlier case Sirica rejected similar White House arguments last October and ordered Nixon to turn over several tapes sought by then special prosecutor Archibald Cox. Sirica was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

At his news conference Wednesday morning St. Clair had reasserted earlier indications from the White House that Nixon would seek to call a halt to demands for tapes and documents after he turned over 1,200 pages of transcripts to the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

He also disclosed that the House Judiciary Committee seeks more than 140 additional tapes for its impeachment inquiry.

Washington — Federal investigators reportedly sought court-approved wiretaps and other electronic eavesdropping far, less frequently in 1973 than they did the previous year, but the increased use of electronic surveillance by local prosecutors meant that the over-all number of such applications continued at the same level.

Petersen Kept Nixon Informed

Edited transcripts of White House tape recordings show Petersen as a dedicated prosecutor. They also show him as a man solicitous of the presidency and determined to keep the scandal away from Nixon personally because he was convinced Nixon was not involved.

On April 17, 1973, three days after White House counsel John W. Dean III took his story to the Watergate prosecutors, Petersen met with Nixon in the White House. According to the transcripts Nixon made a major point to the prosecutor that anything Dean knew he probably knew alone.

Petersen: Mr. President, I am sure that is so. Nixon: I don't want to get em-

Petersen: Mr. President, if I thought you were trying to protect somebody, I would have walked out.

Petersen also was extremely careful in his allegations about and dealings with Nixon's closest

At one point Nixon said he thought the evidence against domestic affairs adviser John E. Ehrlichman was pretty thin.

Petersen also disclosed that he had forbidden his subordinates from questioning dirty trickster Donald Segretti about the money-raising activities of Nixon's personal lawver, Herbert W. Kalmbach. 7 Arrested In 'Zebra' Case; Tie Is Seen To 80 SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seven black men were arrested Wednesday in the "Zebra" street shootings of 18 whites, and the city's mayor claimed police had uncovered a separatist sect dedicated to murdering whites.

"The police have pierced the veil of a vicious ring of murderers called Death Angels," Mayor Joseph Alioto said. "We have the principals involved in the Zebra slayings.'

Labelling the sect "a reverse Ku Klux Klan," Alioto told a news conference in his office that "nearly 80 murderous assaults have been characterized by the Death Angels pattern of operations" in California since 1970.

Law enforcement officials, however, said they such as that outlined by Alioto.

"We have no indication that any of the murders in San Francisco are connected with those others around the state," State. Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger told another news conference. "We have no evidence of a statewide conspiracy. We are still investigating.

Younger, a Republican who is seeking nomination for governor, said he would not comment further on Alioto's description of the group. "I don't want to say anything that might jeopardize the investigation," he said.

Alioto, a Democrat who also is seeking nomination for governor, suspended his campaign activities to conduct an early morning meeting Saturan informer. In response to a question, the mayorsaid it was at that meeting he first learned of the existence of Death Angels.

"The Death Angels, who use wings as an insignia. literally earn their promotions upon presentation of proof of the number and nature of the murders committed," Alioto said Wednesdasy.

"The local group is a division of a larger organization dedicated to the murder and mutilation of whites and dissident blacks. The pattern of killing is by random street shooting or hacking to death with machete, cleaver or knife.

"Decapitation and other forms of mayhem bring special credit from the organization for the killers. Hitchhikers are a particular prey."

Police Chief Donald Scott was asked if the rash

of San Francisco killings was over and said: "I hope they are."

Alioto's announcement came as 100 police. wearing bulletproof vests and armed with shotguns, finished rounding up the seven black men in a series of raids that began at 3:30 a.m.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca identified the men as: J.C. Simon, 29; Larry Green, 22, Dwight Stallings, 28; Thomas Manney 31, Manual Moore, 23. Edgar Burton, 22, and Clarence Jamerson, 27

All were booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit murder, Barca said

"Death Angels, a kind of reverse Ku Klux Klan. is based on muddled aberrations clearly outside the mainstream of Islamic religions," Alioto said "In my opinion it represents as much a potential threat

"Our intelligence indicates that the national leader of this organization is apparently located outside of California and that he determines levels of promotion in the local divisions." In response to a question, he said he believes "the leader is located in a Midwestern city. That's the best we can say at this point."

Alioto said: "Nearly 80 California murderous assaults, principally in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda and Sacramento countres between December of 1970 to date, have been characterized by the Death Angel pattern of operations - unprovoked random shootings of whites in the street or mutilation by heavy-bladed weapons committed by neatly dressed young black men

Syria To Reject Egypt's Lead

Kissinger To Succeed, Sadat Says

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) -President Anwar Sadat said Wednesday night he is fully confident Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will work out a Syrian-Israeli disengagement pact on the Golan Heights.

Sadat also said he may take up with Kissinger the possibility of U.S. arms supplies for Egypt, but that the subject had not been discussed yet. Two weeks ago Sadat announced that Egypt was ending its 18-year reliance on Russia for weapons. He charged the Soviets with making long delays in promised arms shipments and with trying to use arms as a club to control Egypt's foreign policy.

Sadat stressed that Syrian President Hafez Assad "has the final word" with Kissinger about a Syrian-Israeli troop separation on the Golan, but added: "We are discussing all the possibilities." Egyptian sources said the only two remaining stumbling blocks are a way of linking disengagement to further steps toward peace and the question of who controls three vantage points west of Mt. Hermon which look down on Syrian and Israeli'

positions. However, American sources cautioned there was no deal in the offing and predicted negotiations would be a "just solution" of the Arab-Israeli problem "as we see it."

In these words President Hafez Al-Assad, the 44-year-old air force commander who gained control of this country by coup d'etat in 1970 and was elected president by a 99% vote in a 1971 referendum, summarized his basic views on the current situation between Syria and Israel.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is coming here this week to try and tranquilize this violent situation.

That will not be easy. During our conversation of well over two hours, the afternoon calm was interrupted several times by loud booms. Finally the president telephoned an aide and was advised that Syrian and Israeli jets had been engaged in a dogfight that began over the Mount Hermon battlefield and were swinging through this country's bright sunlit sky firing rockets at each other. Assad emphasized: "The Arab people cannot keep silent while Israeli occupation of their lands Major Oil Firms chief John C. Sawhill complained to Congress Wednesday that major oil companies are threatening to damage free competition by taking over too many retail outlets.

He told a Senate small business subcommittee that moves by refiners to enter the retail business are included in the Federal Energy Office's investigation into competitive practices in the petroleum industry.

"One of the trends currently of concern to me is that major oil companies are moving into the retail sector more aggressively," said Sawhill, head of the FEO.

He told the subcommittee that currently independent dealers dominate retail sales of gasoline winter.

Washington (UPI) - Energy and the FEO wants to keep it that way.

"It seems to me to be very important to maintain a strong, viable independent segment. he said, explaining that the FEO would like to have fuel allocation powers "for some time in the future" to ensure survival of the independents

Sawhill also predicted that fuel shortages would be less severe next winter. He said there would be some spot shortages but nothing like the long lines at gasoline pumps last winter.

"I believe the severe shortages we experienced this past winter are largely over," said Sawhill. "Unless there is a reimposition of the (Arab oil) embargo, and I don't anticipate that happening. we will not experience the severe shortage we had last

Several Oil Companies Up Prices; Ashland Cuts Cost

New York (UPI) - Several major oil companies raised the price of gasoline Tuesday, but one, Ashland, cut the price Wednesday by 5 cents a gallon.

Raising prices were Shell Oil, Standard Oil (Ohio) and Skelly Oil of Tulsa. Shell raised the wholesale price 4 8 cents a gallon, Sohio boosted it by 6 cents and Skelly by 3 2 cents. Skelly also raised prices of diesel and heating oils by 4 3 cents and the price of propane bottled gas by 2 cents.

These companies all have reported substantial increases in first quarter earnings.

Nixon Speech A Monument To Artful Dodging

WASHINGTON — In the great crises of his political life, Richard Nixon has been almost recklessly bold. He saved himself from charges of corruption in the presidential campaign of 1952 with his Checkers speech. He came back after losing the presidency of 1960 and the governorship of California in 1962, and the guess here is that he has helped himself by his latest TV defense against impeachment and convic-

As in 1952, he appealed in his latest TV performance to the people over the heads of the politicians. His fate lies, first, with the Judiciary Committee of the House, then with the opinion of the House itself, and finally, if he cannot persuade them, with the judgment of the Senate. But he did not give the Judiciary Committee the evidence it had subpoenaed. He gave them that part of the evidence he thought they should have, and interpreted it selectively in his TV address to the nation before the Judiciary Committee had even had a chance to read the partial evidence he had provided.

More than that, he challenged the Congress to decide what facts they needed to carry out their constitutional responsibilities in the impeachment process, and even insisted on who should verify the evidence he had made available.

For example, he insisted that his own lawyers should have the right to challenge any charges made against him in the impeachment proceedings of the House, but refused to allow the lawyers of the Judiciary Committee to listen to the tapes and check them against the selected transcripts he sent to Capitol Hill.

In short, he asked the people and the Congress to trust him, but refused to trust the Judiciary Committee or its lawyers to hear the tapes on which his argument was based. Also, he concentrated his attack on the testimony of John Dean, the main witness against him, though he must have known that Dean was forbidden by the courts to answer back.

All this was presented by the President to the nation as an exercise of unprecedented generosity. No president in the history of the Republic, he said, had ever made available to the Congress or the people so many secret conversations within the White House, which is true. No doubt, he added, these documents would be misconstrued by his opponents in the Congress and the press, but he had always sought to do what was right, and now all these thousands of documents would be published, and if anybody had any doubt, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Peter Rodino, Jr., of New Jersey, and the senior Republican member of the committee. Edward Hutchison of Michigan. could listen to the tapes and confirm whether or not he was telling the truth.

It is odd that such a speech should have to be made in America by the President of the United States, and even tragic that he felt he had to say, if you don't believe all this, you tive political speech Nixon has ever made. Unlike his recent public speeches in Mississippi, Texas, and Illinois, when he seemed to be elaborately enthusiastic in his language and gestures. Nixon argued his case from the Oval Office of the White House with patient detail and calm. If he made any mistake, it was that he went on too long, but he was composed and conveyed the impression that he knew precisely what he was

Seen from Capitol Hill, it was a clever, almost an outrageous speech. For if the Congress agreed with it, the House and the Senate would be saying that, even in an impeachment proceeding, the President should be able to select the evidence and the people who should check and confirm it.

Nevertheless, seen from the television screens, the President's main target, it was probably an effective and even brilliant political performance. Here is all the relevant evidence, he said to the television can check it against the record, but still this audience. It will prove my fairness and inwas probably the most powerful and effec- nocence. Here behind me are volumes of testimony. Let the Congress and the people study them, and if they have any doubt, let Rodino and Hutchinson of the Judiciary Committee listen to them, and raise questions, and I will answer them under oath. But not, he insisted, the rest of the Judiciary Committee, and not the lawyers of the committee or its staff.

No doubt this sounded fine to the television audience, but imagine Rodino and Hutchinson, without lawyers or staff, trying to go through dozens of tapes on hundreds of intricate questions, while still trying to preside over the proceedings of the Judiciary Committee and whatever else is going on in the House of Representatives. Even if the President's invitation were reasonable, it would take months of listening, and months more of questioning.

Meanwhile, the other members of the Judiciary Committee will be complaining that they have been tricked and left out of hearing the evidence, and the controversy will not be resolved, as the President predicted, but will become even more complicated and vindictive than before.

This is the chance the President took maybe the boldest of his career — but it may work. Like Stans and Mitchell, the President's problem is to prove that there is a "reasonable doubt" that he knew about the scandals of 1972 or tried to cover them up.

And by releasing all these volumes of testimony and going to the people with his evidence and his appeals to get all this behind us and get on to the battle against war and inflation, he has probably gained considerable support in the country and some votes in Congress.

Nixon is probably wrong in supposing that his speech and his pile of documents will end the controversy, but he has released enough to create "reasonable doubt" and that may be decisive in his favor at the end.

Curtis Incredibly Loyal

The House Judiciary Committee should close up shop immediately and stop wasting the taxpayers' dollars, according to Nebraska Senator Carl T. Curtis. The Minden senator thus continues his incredible loyalty to the President.

Throughout the entire Watergate episode, Senator Curtis has been probably the staunchest supporter of Mr. Nixon. In the process, he has shown far more concern for the political welfare of the President and his party than he has for the preservation of those essential values of society that Watergate has dragged through the mud.

Of course, Curtis would affirm his faith in the law of the land. He would not support breaking and entering, obstruction of justice, perjury and the long litany of other criminal acts that have been a part of the Washington scandal.

The important thing is that Curtis has sought to hide all this from public view by his constant defense of the President. He has sought to sell the American people a bill of goods, one that the vast majority of citizens simply have not bought.

But Curtis apparently believes the people of Nebraska still have or will buy his position in the matter. Curtis has displayed no concern at all for the facts and has constantly taken Watergate with a grain of salt.

Now he proposes that the House investigating committee stop its work and maintains that what it has done to date has been a waste of money. Would the senator want the investigation of crime stopped in midstream in the many other cases that abound throughout the land?

Would he say it was a waste of money for public investigators to examine evidence pertaining to possible crimes in the private sector of the nation's business? Curtis has consistently demonstrated a total lack of appreciation for any of the evils that have been a part of the Watergate situation.

The Nebraska senator has been indifferent to the raw abuses of power that have been uncovered in the administration and the people of this state ought to hold him accountable for this.

Revival of Courtroom Brawling

The calendar was rolled back a few years in Sioux Falls, S.D., Tuesday when Indian militants and police did battle, leaving the furnishings and the dignity of a courtroom in shambles.

It was somewhat reminiscent of the courtroom antics of antiwar activists versus officers of the court during the conspiracy trails of recent yesteryear.

Only these were more than antics. Sympathizers with Indian defendants who are on trial for their part in the violent demonstrations in Custer, S.D., two years ago, refused to stand for the judge's entrance into the courtroom. The judge then ordered the courtroom cleared.

Few are certain of the spark which touched it off, but in the ensuing melee. the courtroom was wrecked, half the windows in the building were knocked out, ten persons were hospitalized for injuries and two innocent persons were killed, indirectly, when a police car on the way to the scene collided with another car.

Some say the Indians started it all; others contend it was a "police riot." We imagine that none of the parties was completely blameless.

And we know that Americans had hoped that such arrogance, destruction and injury as part of the judicial process belonged to the past.

It is well established by now that causes, such as the Indian militants are serving, cannot be helped by mocking the symbols of justice. And the police should have learned by now that they cannot command respect and confidence by

With the Wounded Knee trials scheduled in Lincoln in the near future. people here might be especially apprehensive after what happened in Sioux Falls. We hope that the coming judicial drama can be played out with the respect and dignity due the process.

Miracles Or Missiles?

DAMASCUS — Many miracles have been reported in this part of the world but I somehow doubt if Henry Kissinger, described as a miracle-maker by his new friend, Anwar El-Sadat, president of Egypt, is going to pull one out of his hat when he comes here on his new tour of the Bible Lands. To begin with, he doesn't wear a hat.

The key figure on this trip is Hafez Al-Assad, Syria's 44-year-old chief of state. If Assad, a blocky, self-contained, courteous general, who may be the world's only political boss who can fly a MIG, talks to the secretary of state the way he talked to me, Kissinger may order a Homburg after all.

The Syrian used to command the air force before he seized control of his country four years ago But this technical experience had nothing to do with the fact that our lengthy, unemotional conversation in the palace of this famous, ancient city, where the head of Saint John the Baptist is enshrined, was studded with

The bangs didn't come from Assad who is by nature so cool he doesn't have to keep it. No. the counterpoint was provided by Syrian and Israeli jets which started their argument near Mount Hermon and got so loud about their missile exchanges as they skidded overhead that the former air force general telephoned to inquire what the noise was all about.

The noise, of course, symbolized what brings Henry here. Had his wife been arranging the tour. John the Baptist might have been the attraction, but she is off investigating the Nile Valley.

President Assad represents the hurdle to be crossed before an Arab-Israeli peace conference can be reconvened. He is a highly moral, essentially unsubtle man of modest origins. He comes from an Alawite family in the North. The Alawites are a schismatic Moslem sect in the intensely religious Middle East where more men by far have been killed for God than for any

He graduated from military academy and trained as a fighter pilot in Russia, although he doesn't look like a dashing aerobatics expert and told me that on his rare free moments he likes to walk, read and play ping-pong

Assad acknowledges no specific ideological or personal influences. He says he was bitten early by a patriotic bug and a desire to shake off foreign influences (French, when he was born.)

According to him he was always serious and spent much time reading, as he still does. He joined the Baath Arab Socialist Party - often divided into factions - and still considers himself a Baath "Arab Socialist Nationalist" but emphatically not "a Marxist." He claims his ambition has been constant: to liberate and develop his country and to equalize the distribu-

Diplomats say he has shown a tendency toward liberalization, economic relaxation and religious tolerance. Christian services are broadcast by the state radio on Sundays for the first time in years. In Syrian terms, all these aspects are significant. This is a durable little country. inured to hardship, which boasts it makes the toughest soldiers in the Arab world.

General Assad

Assad claims that "wars are not our hobby." His initial trade was war and he is not likely to be easily diverted from his basic goals in the new demi-war with Israel, a demi-war only in the sense that Syria alone is doing the fighting. He acknowledges that his military supplies have been built up by Russia so they are at least as strong as when the October Arab-Israeli war started. He depends on Moscow to continue to pass the ammunition even if it doesn't join his Alawites in praising the Lord.

It seems obvious that if Kissinger is to produce a miracle and end the booming of missiles on the Mount Hermon-Golan front, thus opening the door to a new peace meeting in Geneva, he is going to have to put new pressure on Israel while his colleague, Gromyko, somehow tranquilizes Syria

Israel is unhappy about what has been going on, not only in interested superpower capitals but also with the situation along its borders and inside them. It counts on Kissinger and hopes he can assuage the stolid Gromyko.

But whether all this can influence the granitic Assad and silence the missiles . . . that will indeed give a miraculous tinge to what is called diplomacy.

Senator's Real Job

The individual who signed himself "taxpayer" clearly does not understand the situation. A state senator does not work a mere 60 days per year but, rather, 365. To do a good job, a senator must put in an average 16-hour day during sessions. After a session, numerous demands are placed on his time which does not allow a conscientious senator ever to really settle down to his own business.

Many senators suffer substantial losses in their private incomes which the state salary doesn't even come near to replacing. For those senators who must commute from home to session each day, not to mention numerous meetings held outstate, this sum of $4,800 does not even cover the year's gas bill!

A good senator will break his back for his people. He will do everything from getting a monumental bill passed in the Legislature to securing glasses and hearing aids for those who

Those who yell the loudest about raising the salary are hurting only themselves. If the salary were raised to a reasonable level, the "little guy" could afford to run for the Legislature. As it is now, only those with money or their own businesse think of running. A wage-earner can't.

Let's think about THIS when we're voting!

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER

'Debate' On Impeachment

I am amused at recent inept efforts here in Lincoln to stir up support for impeachment of the President. First, I'd better make it clear that I am registered as neither a Republican nor a Democrat, but as a non-partisan voter. As such, I do not approve of corruption in high office, and felt strongly that Agnew should have been sent to jail for his admitted income tax evasion, and regrettably, Nixon appears to be guilty of the same.

But — to take an example — I happened to sit in on a recent meeting of the local branch of the American Civil Liberties Union and said meeting, which had been publicized as a debate on the impeachment issue, was nothing but a farce!

First their Mr. Fishlow spoke for impeachment. Then another speaker, who supposedly was against impeachment, instead of speaking thusly, rambled off on a series of tangents concerning politicians, civil liberties, etc., and in no way contested what Mr. Fishlow had said. I have a suspicion that A.C.L.U. was afraid to admit the

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK - Now that nine new rules have been adopted by the National Football League to make the mayhem more palatable, the least the millions who make a ritual of watching the games on television should do is revise their own rules.

For starters, they should pledge to drink no more than a dozen six-packs of beer during each weekend this coming season. Also, they should volunteer or be forced to fetch every other six-pack themselves, instead of demanding that the wife and kids attend to such needs.

They should agree to empty their ashtrays after every fourth hour of viewing. And lift up their feet when the poor wafe tries to run the vacuum cleaner on the rug beneath their slippers. They should also be ordered to let the kids turn to "Sesame Street," at least twice during the season, even though it means tuning out the re-run of Howard Cosell debating Dick Young on the right of Tuffy Leemans to enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame at Canton, O.

TV football addicts would be penalized under the new rules for a long list of infractions. Any slob who won't let his wife watch Marshal Dillon on Monday nights will be forced to buy a new set and watch his game in a broom closet. The burn who yells for his breakfast, lunch and dinner to be served to him on his lap, on Super Bowl Sunday, should have same rubbed in his

Violators of the no-yelling and acreaming clause, which will be in effect when the body is trying to take a map, will be denied the opportunity to watch all replays in slow motion from the Goodyear Hima.

We're par-ticularly hurt because last Christmas we met a couple who showered us with attention. They wined and dined us and we genuinely liked them. But a few weeks ago they sprang the news that they wanted us to donate $10,000 to a local art center. It wasn't our cup of teaand we said we were more interested in things such as hospitals. When we didn't come across they dropped us like hot potatoes. Doesn't it seem callous and conniving when people butter you up just for what they hope to get out of you?"

You butter folks up and when they're in a good mood you try to interest them in your project. Friendships don't always end when folks fail to contribute as expected. During the wining and dining there's a chance to get acquainted and if folks have real interests in common, a friendship may continue to grow. Most affluent people scent a fund drive when they're suddenly being wined and dined. ☆ ☆ ☆

Campaign Post Resignation Told By Mrs. Crosby

York (AP) - State Sen. Richard Marvel's gubernatorial campaign manager said Wednesday that she resigned long underwear 12 months a April 23 because of Mrs. LaVon Crosby, wife of early March. She said a major campaign reorganization was in the works.

Mrs. Crosby said the management of the campaign could be turned over to Republican party officials, meaning Marvel's own people would have less control of the campaign.

LINCOLN

seventh of a series of articles on candidates in the May 14 primary election.) By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer Armed with Gov. J. James Exon's endorsement. Hastings attorney Gerald Whelan is conducting the most comprehensive lieutenant governor campaign of the 1974 primary elections.

His task: to establish a win-. ning edge over his better known opponents by May 14.

If he succeeds, Whelan will have a happy 49th birthday on Election Day.

"There is only one issue," Whelan contends.

"And that is who would make Jim Exon the best lieutenant governor.

"The nature of this job is not issue-oriented. It's simply a question of what the teams are going to look like in November."

Nebraskans this autumn elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team for the first time. So whichever candidate Democratic voters pick for the second spot next month will be teamed with Exon (assuming he turns back primary challenger Richard Schmitz of Lyman) in November.

Choice Clear

Exon has made his choice crystal clear, and the governor and Whelan are attempting to run as "a team" in the primary election.

None of the other candidates is compatible with Exon. Whelan believes, particularly the best known of the lot, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

"I think it's going to come down to either Carpenter or me" the four-candidate Democratic scrap, Whelan said.

While he is the choice of Exon, Whelan said, Carpenter is the choice of Republican gubernatorial candidate (soon to be nominee) Richard Marvel.

"Dick Marvel wants to make sure Terry gets the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor," Whelan said. "It is Marvel's assessment that his chore (in November) would be made less difficult by the nomination of Carpenter."

"Incompatible" It is Whelan's contention that Carpenter would be an "incompatible" running mate and an "incompatible" Exon lieute-

Carpenter's legislative performance this year was more extra time. friendly to Marvel than Exon, Whelan noted.

"Terry only filed for the office because he thinks it may be an easy way to back into the governor's chair." Whelan said.

Political guesswork has centered on the possibility that a re-elected Governor Exon might at mid-term in 1976 make a bid for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Roman Hruska.

If Exon failed, he would retain the governorship. If he won, he could turn the office over to his Democratic lieutenant governor. But that scenario presumably depends, in part, on who sits in

Impact Discussed Thus, the final result of this year's Democratic primary derby for lieutenant governor could have an historic impact on the short-term future of Nebraska politics, Democratic hopes and Whelan. (Exon told an educational television network panel of newsmen last week that Whelan is also his choice to succeed him as governor at the end of a second four-year term.) Whelan says his own private polls indicate that he is running either first or second in each of the three congressional districts. Carpenter shows that kind of strength in two of the districts, while Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton displays similar strength in only one.

So his job, Whelan says, is to build on that base over the final weeks of the campaign. Candidly, he admits, he will need that

Thus, Whelan is marching through solid campaign days which begin before dawn and continue into the night. He has traveled more than 8,000 miles. His right hand is swollen and calloused from shaking hands as many, he figures, as 3,500 in a single day.

Media Campaign

Meanwhile, the Exon-Whelan Committee has launched a final four-week media campaign estimated to cost $25,000.

Total primary costs for the team will reach at least $35,000, according to campaign manager . Loren Belker.

Whelan has been at it full time since April 1. Before that he was on the road two-thirds of the time for a month and, prior to that, he made brief forays into vital areas of the state.

Pat Exon, the governor's wife, was out campaigning with him last week. And the governor joins him here and there for joint appearances.

Previous Ventures Whelan has had two previous ventures into the state's political

In 1960, he won the First District Democratic congressional nomination, but fell to Republican Rep. Phil Weaver in the general election. Whelan won 45% of the vote, running far ahead of Democratic presidential candidate John Kennedy.

In 1970, he sought and won election to the non-partisan State Board of Education, ousting incumbent John Wagoner by 4,262 votes, winning 13 of 14 counties in the process.

Whelan was board president when he resigned last January to enter the lieutenant governor's

Party Posts

As a Democrat, he has served as Adams County chairman and in a variety of state party posts.

As for his two best-known Democratic challengers, Carpenter and Burbach, Whelan has said: "I can't think of two senators who have caused more problems for Governor Exon."

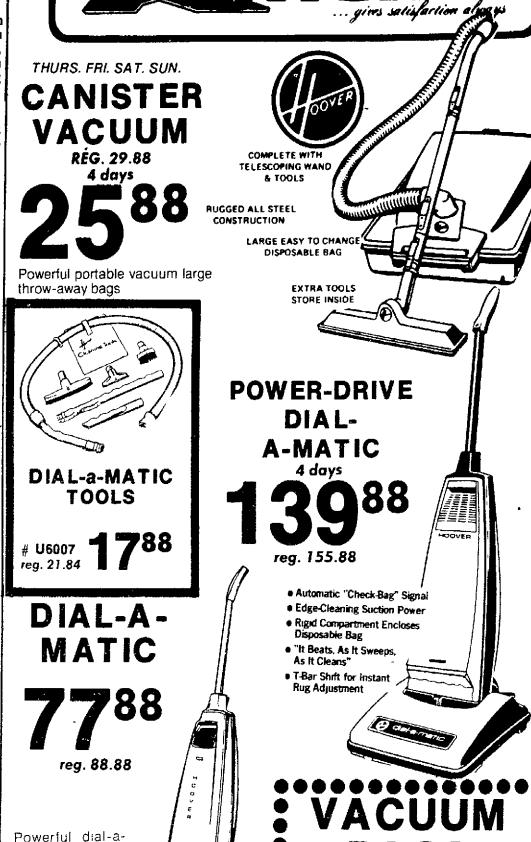

Surveying the entire field of opponents, which also includes Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue, he suggests: "If this is a case of the Legislature against the governor, I'm delighted to be on the governor's side."

And Whelan hopes to be there, at Exon's side, this autumn.

to note dissatisfaction" by minority students with in- and out-of-class aspects of the university. Zumberge and UNL administrators held meetings with the students to hear their suggestions.

"Our staff has observed that there is increasing racial restlessness on campus and, as well, isolated behavioral problems," the resolution states. "Added to the racial milieu, many of our minority students are searching to determine how paid by student fees or private higher education can be made more meaningful in their current and future lives.'

The proposed course of action represents a response from

According to the resolution. minority students have said: -They feel excluded from the campus mainstream, because they are few in number.

-They object to the small number of minority faculty and staff members available for advising and teaching; to "tenuous financial aid for the individual," and to limited funding for ethnic cultural progams.

—They "experience what they consider to be a variety of white racist attitudes in the classroom and throughout the campus community.'

The resolution emphasizes that efforts to improve UNL minority students' educational experiences "will not be done at the literal and/or figurative expense of the majority group. "Our plans will support the all people." Bader said any expenses required to improve the goal that this university is to serve the interests and needs of sources; "most likely they would not be tax dollars."

He said the programs would rely not on spending; rather, on increased contributions of time by UNL faculty and staff.

The goals in the proposed course of action include doubling the size of the minority freshman class - to about 130, according to Bader; ensuring financial aid is available to meet the needs of all low-income (minority and white) freshmen and returning students; and developing and funding of minority cultural programming.

Another calls for Bader to form a minority student roundtable representing all minority groups, to meet monthly to advise him of recommendations for classroom and out-of-class

The proposal also would form an affirmative action plan to add "a significant number of minority faculty and staff" during the 1974-75 academic year; and a plan to recruit qualified minority graduate students.

The final goal would create a committee of all-minority UNL faculty to work with Bader in increasing the size of the freshman class and improving minority programs would probably be Swearingen Criticizes 'Total Waste Of Money'

Lancaster County com- the necessary information. missioner candidate William Swearingen lashed out at the present county board Wednesday, charging waste of taxpayers' money and dissension resulting from "lack of trust." Swearingen, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the post now held by County Board Chairman Robert Colin, said that the county's spending $30,000 to have the federal government determine what type of civil service system would be applicable to county employes is in his opinion a "total waste of money."

He said that the government has this information available by merely paying the cost of printing or copying or sending one man to Washington to obtain all

Swearingen said that he would like to make the county board a "free-thinking board of three specific individuals."

The first dissension between the county board and other department heads and county employes, according to Swearingen, came four years ago when Colin was elected and "many blamed it on a personal clash between him and Bill Grossman."

"Grossman has been out of office for two years, and the insecuirty appears to be even stronger," he said, noting that Colin and Commissioner Jan Gauger, who holds the post formerly held by Grossman, "appear to be running the coun-'v the way they wish.'

Pluta is To Inspect Reformatory

By The Associated Press
State Fire Marshal Joe Pluta said Wednesday he would inspect the Reformatory at the Penal Complex in response to a request from State Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln.

Pluta said he would order buildings evacuated if he found there was "an extreme and eminent" danger. He said a consulting engineer would have to con-firm his findings before an evacuation order was given.

Pluta said an inspection of the Reformatory in January showed the buildings were old and in need of replacement, but did not represent an extreme and eminent danger.

The State Health Department said Director Henry D. Smith would announce his decision on Luedtke's request late Wednesday.

Luedtke made the request after his plans to get a replacement for the Reformatory failed. Luedtke had worked out a plan with the governor to replace the Reformatory and the Penitentiary, but the plan was amended by the Legislature and vetoed by the governor.

The Reformatory houses first conviction male inmates.

Pluta said he would begin the inspection early next week and would be looking particularly for cracks in the foundations of the buildings.

He said inspectors had found some deficiencies in the Reformatory in the past, but none of the deficencies were extreme enough to close the faculity.

If problems are serious enough, he said, he would close the facility and let the prison authorities decide where they would move the prisioners.

Late Financial Reports Filed By Candidates

Two more Lancaster County office candidates Wednesday filed with the Lancaster County election commissioner's office a list of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Eugene Schiltz, Democratic candidate for Lancaster County surveyor, the only candidate for that office who had not filed a report by the deadline, listed contributions of $200 and expenditures of $155.

The third Republican candidate for the second district commissioner's post now held by Robert Colin, Bud Irons, listed $700 in contributions and expenditures totaling $1.607.

Neither of the two Republcan candidates seeking to unseat Assessor Fritz Meyer had filed a report Wednesday. Opposing Meyer are Republican candidates John Ratliff and Dan Buckner. No Democrats filed for

Other county candidates who have not yet filed a report are Democratic candidates for sheriff, Johnny Austin and Edward Pierce.

Nebraska Visit Set

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz will visit Nebraska May 14, keeping a commitment made by President Nixon several months

In a meeting with State Sen. Richard Proud earlier this year, Nixon said he would send Butz to Nebraska to gather information from cattlemen and farmers, and report his findings to the president.

The secretary's visit was announced by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, chairman of the Legislature's Agricultural Com-

Schmit said Butz would make a speech in South Sioux City but that other portions of his itinerary were not complete.

In his meeting with Nixon, Proud told the President he would be better served by having top advisors meet with agricultural leaders, rather than depending on reports from government agencies on existing problems.

Career-Oriented Programs Are Offered

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a five-part series examining the expanding career choices, with particular emphasis on the opportunities for young women. Today - Roll of the School.

By LINDA OLIG Star Staff Writer "A great field for a woman," said a recruiting poster, greeting Shelly Coffey. a Lincoln Northeast junior, as she accompanied three of her peers on a tour of the

The four met with Maj. R. D. Daniell, flight instructor, who explained the eligibility and training requirements for guard pilots, careers in which the student had indicated an interest.

The lecture completed, Daniell turned to Miss Coffey, with the sad news: "The military, or the Air Force, has not seen fit to train women as pilots. But there are other flight jobs for a woman," - such as flight nursing.

However, commercial airlines now have some female pilots, the major added.

Touring the guard facility, Miss Coffey said she wasn't surprised that the military had no female pilots. That she is contemplating a career in social work or

Why, then, had she participated in the

"It is a good chance to explore all (career) possibilities," she said, adding, "The problem is many of them . . . are not visible."

If a revised edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles were to be published today, it would list nearly 45,000 different careers, estimated Dr. Clay Gerken. University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor of educational psychology.

"How many kids can name 1%?" he questioned.

Individuals confronted with career decisions inevitably fall back on areas to which they have been exposed, said Dr. Rudolph Fredstrom, director of counseling for the Lincoln Public Schools. "They see their mothers doing housework and think that's the only job for women."

It is just that limited exposure and awareness which has prompted the schools to launch new career-oriented programs - career days, career education and many other opportunities for increased visibility of career choices.

The opportunities are there, but are the students taking advantage of them?

According to school officials, those programs have been met with only limited success. And the impact has been even less with respect to the young women aggressively looking into those careers not typically associated with

"For Males Only" and "For Females Only" are not the headings for the sign-up sheets for career day segments at Lincoln Southeast. Rather, the opportunity to discuss jobs with the professionals in any area is available to any student

But the females consistently register for the traditional female courses elementary education, nursing, dental assisting and interior design, said Don Darnell, assistant principal for student services at Lincoln Southeast

He said there exists a "cultural lag" in the students' awareness and acceptance of female breakthroughs into traditionally male-dominated fields.

"They would rather delay" contemplating future plans, observed Charles Hemphill, Southeast counselor. "Some students will do anything to get out of attending" career day discussions

"It's hard to get people's attention" when careers do not yet seem a reality. said Vernon Williams, University of Nebraska-Lincoln associate professor of educational psychology and measurements and higher education. saying that realistically investigating career options is a matter of maturation

Diann Bauer, however, is a Southeast sophomore who already is thinking of her future career plans. At the school's career day last week, she attended the segment on forestry.

She came out of the session with the professional feeling anything but encouraged "He said forestry is a physically demanding field and recommended that women interested in it should look into recreation instead," Miss Bauer reported

Using the community as a laboratory, several schools also offer such experiences as "shadowing," visitations and work-study to acquaint students with the way professionals function in the work world.

East High School's work-study program has allowed one female student to learn behind-the-scenes at the local television station Another program, "an orientation and rotation" experience in five areas of nursing, is offered East students by the Veterans Administration Hospital

There exists a "cultural lag" in students' awareness and acceptance of female breakthroughs into traditionally maledominated fields.

according to Dr Allen Blezek, coordinator of the public schools' project

And that school offers visitation or "shadowing" experiences for its students.

Unfortunately, no more than 40 students have taken advantage of that opportunity to become acquainted with persons working in such fields as aviation. law, engineering, veterinary and medical science - and more than half of the participants to date are in the debate class instructed by Jack Mueller, who has encouraged his students to make at least three visitations, Blezek said.

Lincoln High, with the Downtown Rotary Club, offers a series of career luncheons, designed to acquaint students with various career clusters — a variety of occupations available in a single field. said Jerry Gruber, coordinator of out-ofschool learning for the Lincoln Public Schools' Career Education Project

He said company representatives take special pains to point out opportunities for females in traditionally male fields and vice versa

"However, some occupation clusters are more for girls than for boys," he added "Some jobs, by the very nature of their requirements are male or female We can wish it weren't so, but until employers change and the community changes, that's the way it is

To frolic among among the best of nature's flora and fauna-that's just what Christy Stephens and thousands of other Lincoln youngsters have been anticipating for months.

That day finally arrived. Wednesday was the day for the first adventure, 1974, at the Lincoln Children's Zoo.

Soon after the gates of the zoo, operated by the Arnott R. Folsom Zoological Society, were opened, Christy, 4-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Robert L. Stephens, renewed old friendships and established new ones as she scampered through the zoo.

Animals within an arm's length were her favorites. And they were within easy grasp on the zoo's opening day. The animals were glad to have some friendly, two-legged company and Christy was equally delighted to take a peek here, steal a touch there and even shush those threatening to disturb the pleasure of the visit.

The Children's Zoo will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays; 11 a.m. to 8.30 p.m. Wednesdays; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays through Labor Day

'Free To Be . . . You And Me'

There's something to be said for not dressing your cat in an apron, "just 'cause he's learning to bake." And, likewise, a horse shouldn't be in a nightgown, "just 'cause he can't

Why certainly, you say. What an absurd idea. Who ever thought of dressing a horse in a nightgown, just 'cause . . . But wait a minute. Our entire culture is constructed around that holier-than-holy premise - "just 'cause."

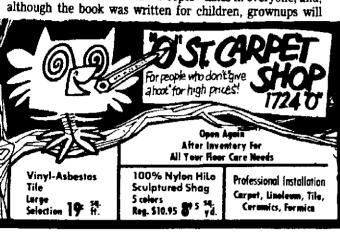

Mrs. American housewife buys Brand Q Oleomargarine just 'cause her mother used it. Father goes to work in a shirt and tie . . . just 'cause fathers have been going to work that way for generations.

Child Number One plays with a football . . . just 'cause he's a boy; and his sibling plays with a doll . . . just 'cause . . . you guessed it.

Sometimes it takes a little absurdity, a little fantasy, to make us see how silly we act.

And that's what "Free To Be . . . You And Me" (McGraw-Hill) is all about: It's an invitation to people to examine their lifestyles - sometimes by way of fantasy, sometimes not - so they can see what a cultural/social rut they're in.

It should be added that "people" is here defined in the broadest sense of the word. "People" takes in everyone, and,

In fact, come to think about it, maybe it's grownups who will benefit most from "Free To Be . . . " For it is they who have all the preconceived notions about who-should-dowhat; how-you-should-act-when; and what-you-should-wearto-a-tea-party.

Notions which are assiduously handed down to their offspring, so that the whole vicious circle is repeated, ad infinitum.

At any rate, whoever takes the time to read the bookor the time to have it read to them - will be greatly Seldom has so much diverse talent been brought

Forecast For Thursday Virgo can be a combination of sharp criticism and soft, understanding murmurs. Like Gernini and Aquarius, this sign is elusive, hard to catalogue, almost impossible t thwart, capable of getting up from a fall and climbing to the heights. The key words for this native are work and service — but the Mercury planet means the work is of a penetrating, analytical nature and the service is unique, involves communication and results in hobnobing with the high and the mighty as well as the low and lonely. Virgo is the Sixth House and these natives are aware of health, achievement and are willing to battle for principles. Some lavish praise on Virgo while others regard these persons in the negative, "not my cup of tea." perspective. It all depends on who does the looking — or tasting.

San Antonio — The Texas state flower is the Bluebonnet. The official motto is "Friendship." The state bird is the Mockingbird. And the state tree is the Pecan.

So last night I went looking for the most famous pecan tree in old San Antonio.

It's warm fiesta time down here. Along the winding San Antonio river, the section called La Villita was absolutely packed. At fiesta, La Villita has mariachi music. Little stands sell hot flour enchiladas and barbecued beef on a stick.

One stand was selling rattlesnake meat - I never could find it but a man told me: "Tastes something like fish." (He said it as though he didn't care much for it.)

pecan tree.

The man from San Antone said: "You see in the days of the Mexican Independence War when Father Hidalgo gave the cry of independence — San Antonio went with him. The Mexican-Americans here are proud of that.

'Well, down in Mexico there was a big statue of Hidalgo and. during the WPA days or thereabouts, they got work project money to cast it in bronze and bring it up here.

"Now the mayor who thought it up was defeated. The new mayor was against government giveaways. So there the town was with a statue the mayor didn't want."

San Antone is the best I've ever

He said: "'m top of having a statue, they'd built a place to put it in La Villita. A kind of a stand. So it needed something and they planted a pecan tree on it.

"It was hardly planted when lightning struck it. Tore it all down."

He said: "They planted another — a raintree, I believe. And lightning struck that one.

"By this time you couldn't get a Mexican to go near the place. They're very superstitious. A lot of the old beliefs that have gone out in Mexico are still very apparent here. Cults and things like that.

"Well, they planted another pecan tree, and what do you think?" (I hardly knew what to think. I thought maybe they

Applause For Rozelle

That glorious institution that provides the impetus for fulfillment of the Great American Dream where the poor and downtrodden can pull themselves up by their bootstraps if they're gifted with an utter disregard for their own body and the health of others has cracked down

The National Football League, ruled with an ironclad hand by Pete Rozelle who wields a mighty axe at the heads of wrong-doers, has provided fame and fortune for many individuals and built enough heros in the Jack Armstrong All-American boy image to give every youth a hero or individual to identify with. But lately, those heros have been found to have the proverbial feet of clay. The gilt-edged shine of their clean-cut image has become tarnished with antics and problems that go against the Mom's Apple Pie ideology long associated with it.

Rember Lance Rentzel who breeched several codes by exposing himself and eventually being placed on probation for drug violation? And how about Peck's Bad Boy, Joe Don Looney, who's last name typified the kind of trouble he continually was the recipient of? Don't forget Paul Hornung and Alex Karras who committed the unforgiveable transgression of placing a small and nominal wager on their own teams with cigar-chomping agents of the Black Guard

Now Rozelle has again weeded out yet another problem Eight veteran players, general manager Harland Svare and owner Eugene Klein of the San Diego Chargers have been fined a total of $40,000 and placed on probation for violation of the NFL's drug policy. It was the first such action since the league announced last June that it was strengthening its anti-drug policy

Although Rozelle disclosed no details, Svare reportedly said: "Everybody knows we're talking about marijuana." Marijuana! Only marijuana amidst all the brilliantly-hued pharmaceutical supplies that abound in training rooms?

Maybe But it wasn't too long ago that former player Houston Ridge filed suit against the Chargers claiming improperly administered drugs caused an injury that ended his career in 1969. He settled the suit for $300,000 but sworn statements filed during the case accused the team of passing out as many as 10,000 pills in a single

Then last November the California Board of Medical Examiners and Board of Pharmacy investigated the team and discovered that although drug controls had tightened. drug use was even worse than in 1969

Now the bell has tolled for eight players of that team. Defensive end Deacon Jones and linebacker Tim Rossovich have been fined $3,000 each; wide receiver Jerry Levias and defensive linemen Coy Bacon and Dave Costa $2,000 each; and linebacker coach Rick Redman, running back Bob Thomas and guard Walt Sweeney $1,000 each. Svare was hit for $5,000 and Klein with $20,000.

Svare reportedly failed to exercise proper supervisory controls and Klein "for supervisory omissions by (the Chargers') administrative staff "But each said he had no independent evidence of drug abuse even though Klein hired a private investigator last year to check allegations made against certain members of the team

But what happens now? Will football begin to take on the blackened image professional boxing did in the Twenties and Thirties when it was linked to the underworld? Or is it strong and powerful enough to ride the crest of the wave of public outcry and condemnation?

Fortunately, the NFL has Rozelle. Damned by many as being unfair and unwilling to reach arbitration on contract disputes, Rozelle, nevertheless, is quite willing to take a stand on anything that may dim the luster of the sport. He is not willing to sit idly by and let things take a natural course.

Undoubtedly, Rozelle's ruling will be challenged They all are But none of the players with the exception of Sweeney have denied the charges made against them

Now the only thing that remains to be seen is precisely how long the probation will be Anybody occupying the limelight of an All-American hero and establishing himself as the type of individual for today's youths should be willing to conduct himself in an appropriate manner With any luck, the probation will last a long time. A long

Cowboys Granted Injunction

DALLAS (UPI) — A state district judge saying he was sorry that physical attributes had finally become a matter of barter Wednesday ruled the barter Wednesday ruled the World Football League cannot sign members of the Dallas Cowsign members of the Dallas Cowboys to tuture contracts

Judge Charles Long thus granted the temporary injunction the Cowbovs had sought against the World Football League WFL attorneys said they would appeal during the 20day limit

Almost two full days of testimony from Cowbors players coaches and officials preceded Long's ruling and before he made it he took time out to deliver what he himself termed a sermon

As a court of equity we are concerned about the mores and what has taken place in commerce business and particularly in the field of athletic endeavor the judge said

It is to be regretted that physical ability and a proper application of wonderful physical attributes has finally become a matter of barter. Purchase and sale it you please

But reality must be faced and regardless of my proclinity to preach a sermon I must make a decision

Drill Upsets NU's Osborne

By BOB OWENS Star Sports Editor

I was more disappointed with practice today than I've been for a long time Coach Tom Osborne said after his Nebraska Cornhuskers had their final contact session Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's intrasquad football game

"It looked like a few of the guys think spring ball is over, but it isn't." Osborne added "The defense played a little better, but the offense didn't do quite as well There wasn't the effort we've had previously."

Perhaps this is a common malady on college football teams as players hope to avoid injury so they ll be able to play in the spring game Osborne announced the squad

division which finds the No 1 and No 4 units teaming against the No 2 and No 3 teams for the 1 30 pm kickoff in Memorial Stadium

'It should be reasonably Osborne believes The even first offense and defense should win but they won't play much over a half a game so the 2 s and 3 s could make it close

The I's and 4's will wear Red sburts.

"There have been times some of the spring games have been very onesided with the same breakdown of players Osborne recalled Yet the Whites won a couple of years ago in a sloppily played games in the rain Spring games are hard to predict

Osborne said he would be disappointed if the first offense doesn't move the ball consistentis and disappointed if the first detense doesn't stop the second and third teams

Because he wants to take a look at No 1 split end Bobby Thomas as a punt returner, Thomas will play with the White I-Back John O Leary and

wingback Don Westbrook will return for the Red team Kent Smith and Jimmy Burrow also will be receiving punts for the

Trainer Monti Sims put to rest the reports that his Destroyer winner of the Santa Anita Derby in a spectacular upset was too tired from his third-place finish in last Saturday's Stepping Stone Purse to run in the Derby

Why that very afternoon he was grazing across the road from the barn and when a car went by he wanted to chase it Sims said The tiredness he explained resulted from workouts missed because of bad weather

THE PADDOCK

By Mark Gordon Star Sports Writer

Grand Island — Al Swihart sees nothing but success for Fonner Park

"I'm sure we'll hit a $600,000 day next year (in mutuel handle)," said the general manager of the Grand Island track which just completed its most successful season in its 21 years. "I really thought we'd do it this year on Derby Day I'm sure we'll do $600,000 next year "

That was probably the only mark Fonner didn t achieve this year. All previous records were erased this season — attendance, every mutuel handle mark, highest purses paid to horsemen — highest single race etc

The total mutuel handle was up 13 2% from last year while attendance increased only slightly — 127 And that is undoubtedly the most puzzling aspect to this year s Fonner meeting "That bothers me," Swihart said "I can't put my finger on it. But that's been happening the past three years. One thing is that the people that are coming are spending a lot more money here But why that's happening, I wish I knew. Eliminating free passes might be part of the reason the crowds haven t grown like the handle has he said

This is the second year we haven't given out free passes But we still had 50,000 50-cent passes but the real horseplayers aren't going to stop coming to the track because they have to spend 50 cents to get in Impressive Figures

Going into the final week of this year smeeting the handle was up 14.8 per cent over last year. However Fonner always tallies off some during its final week as the Omaha-Lincoln horseplayers wait for Ak-Sar Ben in Omaha to open

The per capita daily average rose from $63.74 last vear to $71.31 this year. All of which comes to the obvious question - What were the reasons for this year's successful meeting?

We had much better quality horses this year and the better the horses, the more the handle will go up Swihart said. We had weekday features this year that a few years ago weld be lucky to get as Saturday to faires.

We had fantastic weather this year are information we few had days the said. In fact, 30 of the 41 days year of tast tracks. And the other days were good tracks we didn't have a single muddy track since it went from a or py to slow this year on our new track

Swihart also praised racing secretary Dean Williams for producing quality programs. And he also had nothing but compliments for the horsemen.

We had tremendous cooperation from the horsemen he said. We didn't get a single complaint from the horsemen and they really helped as this year like they always do

One thing Swihart didn't mention which probably had as much to do with the success this year as anothing - was the attitude of the Fonner Park management

Those associated with Nebraska racing know that Swihart and his ace assistant, Hugh Miner have constantly striven for the best product. They've attempted to give Fonner Park a quality name yet with enough concern so it's not a nameless corporation like so many major race

Fonner Park is fortunate to have those two leaders on its team. Maybe that's the biggest reason for the tremendous increases that Fonner has shown the past few years

Padres Spill Expos; Yankees Down A's

Rookie Dave Freisleben pitched a four-hitter for his second victory in as many major league starts as the surprising San Diego Padres beat the Montreal Expos 5-1 Wednesday for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Freisleben also slammed a double, his first major league hit, starting a four-run uprising in the third inning against Ernie McAnally. The inning also included Matty Alou's RBI single, a pair of bases-loaded walks and Fred Kendall's sacri-

In other daytime action, the New York Yankees edged the Oakland A's 4-3, the San Francisco Giants outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies 13-8 and the California Angels shaded the Boston Red Sox 4-2.

Bobby Murcer and Ron Blomberg started the eighth inning with consecutive doubles off Catfish Hunter, enabling the Yankees to nip Oakland. Blomberg tied the score 3-3 with a sixth-inning homer. Joe Rudi homered for the A's, who have lost three straight games by identical 4-3 scores.

Consecutive doubles by Garry Maddox, Bobby Bonds and Steve Ontiveros sparked a ninerun fifth-inning rally that powered the Giants over the Phillies. The Giants sent 15 batters to the plate in the fifth, overcoming a 6-3 Philadelphia lead with six hits and six bases on balls.

Chris Arnold and Gary Matthews homered for San Francisco while Mike Schmidt drove in four Philadelphia runs with a two-run single and a two-run

Stoneman, who pitched two no-hitters in the National League, struck out nine before giving way to May in the ninth inning after Carlton Fisk homered and Cecil Cooper singled.

The Red Sox have lost three games in a row and eight of their last nine outings.

In night action, the Detroit Tigers edged the Kansas City Royals 2-1, the Milwaukee Brewers pounded the Texas Rangers 11-3, the Chicago White Sox blanked the Baltimore Orioles 2-0, the Cincinnati Reds downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3, the Atlanta Braves nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5. and the Houston Astros topped the Chicago Cubs 11-7.

Pairings Set For Baseball

Pairings for the Class A-1 district baseball tournament have been set. Millard and Lincoln Southeast will collide Monday, May 20, at 4:30 p.m.

The winner of that contest will meet Lincoln High at 1:30 p.m. and Lincoln East and Lincoln Northeast will battle at 4:30 p.m. in the semifinals Wednesday, May 22.

The finals for a ticket to the state tourney at Ralston are set for Friday, May 24, at 4:30 p.m. All games will be played at Sherman Field in Lincoln.

Kaat, a veteran left-hander, walked three, struck out three and didn't allow a runner past second base. Forster came on after Earl Williams opened the ninth with a single, Baltimore's fifth hit.

Reliever Jim Sadowski vielded a bases-loaded walk to snap a fifth-inning tie and Cincinnati went on to defeat Pittsburgh.

In the game, Pittsburgh starter Dock Ellis hit the first three batters, tying a major league record.

Pinch hitter Frank Tepedino's ninth-inning single broke a 4-4 tie and Atlanta went on to beat St. Louis.

Craig Robinson led off the rally with a single and walks to Ralph Garr and Leo Foster eventually loaded the bases for Tepedino, who drilled a hit to right, giving the Braves a 5-4 lead. Rowland Office followed with a sacrifice fly for the gamewinning run.

Jim Hickman homered for St. Louis in the bottom of the ninth.

Houston's Lee May hit a pair of two-run singles, pacing Houston over Chicago.

May's two-run single in the third tied the score 3-3, and after Cesar Cedeno's infield single put Houston ahead 4-3 in the fifth, May drove in two more runs with another single.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)-Bill Sharp's bases-loaded triple and home runs by John Jeter and Lamar Johnson sent the Iowa Oaks to a 6-3 American Association baseball victory over Omaha Wednesday night.

Sharp, hitting in his 15th straight game, slugged his triple in the third inning following singles by Jim Redmon and Bee Bee Richard and a walk to Hugh Jeter and Johnson hit back to back homers in the fifth inning after Sharp singled with two out.

Stan Perzanowski picked up his third straight victory for the Oaks with a five hitter.

CHAMPAGNE—A TOUCH OF CLASS

Since 1709 when a blind Monk made the accidental discovery of a sparkling wine we now know as CHAMPAGAE, it has been considered the finest of all vinous beverages. The term "CHAMPAGNE" is actually a generic term and refers to the district in France where this remarkable beverage is made. And only sparkling wine made in this district can truly be called CHAMPAGAE. Many wine making countries produce sparkling wine but it is only the United States makers of sparkling wine which refuse to recognize France's claim to the term: "CHAMPAGNE", and continue to label our sparkling wine Champagne, Vast quantthes of sparking wine are made in Germans -- in fact, the Germans are the world's largest consumers of this type of wine, but the German variety is called "Sekt". Italy too, makes large quantities of sparkling wine whichsthey call: "Asti-Spumonti"-yers low in alcoholic content and rather sweet.

The first champagne made was sweet and the British who were France's best customers insisted that the sweetness be removed. It was the French firm of Pommers and Greno which has been given the credit for making this change in the taste of CHAMPAGNE, and when the "dry" sparkling wine became available it gained immediate popularity and today is the undisputed king of all beverages. It is the only wine which may be served from appear tizer to desect and with any food and at any time. It is the most sophisticated of all wines and is symbolic of the best in everything-strictly a class drink. Whatever the event, from first Communion to launching a battleship, CHAMPAGNE belongs

Most CHAMPAGAE is made from the Pinot Noir grape—the same grape used in making the finest Burgundies. The finest CHAMPAGAL-that labelled Blanc de Blanc-and Brut-is made entirely from the Pinot Chandonnay grape. All CHAMPAGNES are blends and all Vintage CHAMPAGNE and BLANC de BLANC CHAMPAGNE is labelled: "Brut"the driest of all.

The largest and most complete selection of fine CHAMPAGAE can be found in lancoln at MITCH TAVLINS temperature-controlled wine cellar—and your selection will be appropriately gift-wrapped for you at no additional cost.

For all of your spirits shopping-and especially wine and CHAMPAGNE-come to TAN-LINS-you can't do better anywhere else.

Omaha (UPI) - The Omaha Mustangs professional football team will be back in action this summer, two new owners announced Wednesday.

Ted Reeder and Bob Adwers, Omaha businessmen, said they are sole owners of a new club which will adopt the name Mustangs. A team which went defunct two years ago used the name Mustangs.

Reeder and Adwers said at a news conference that the team will play a seven-game independent schedule.

Games will be played on the artificial turf at the University of Nebraska at Omaha campus.

All games will be played Saturday night against professional teams from the Southwest League and the Central States

The opening game will be with Tulsa July 6th and the season ends Aug. 17 against Cedar Rapids, Iowa Head coach will be Dallas

Dyer, football coach at Omaha Rummel High School and a former Nebraska Cornhusker and Mustang star.

Adwers said the owners have lined up a squad of about 30 players and that they are ready

The original Mustangs, formed through the efforts of the late player, Glen Hepburn, began operations in 1964 and played for nine years through the 1972

Special Session Request Is Urged

. . . Obscenity Law Cited

Fremont (AP) - City Atty Lyle Gill wants the Fremont City Council to contact Gov J. J. Exon and request a special session of the Legislature

Gill made the recommendation at Tuesday night's council meeting as part of a status report on Fremont's antitopless ordinance.

The council decided to take no action on the recommendation until its next meeting May 14 Gill's recommendation stems from an obscenity law, LB815 passed by the 1974 Legislature The bill takes away from cities the authority to determine what is obscene and gives such authority to the state

In just six days of official existence, a committee formed to push a pay raise for state legislators has collected $2,500

Records at the secretary of state's office Wednesday showed six contributions had been received by the Nebraska Committee for Better Government, formed to support Amendment

Approval of the amendment would raise the pay of state senators from $4,800 to $8,100 per year

The committee is co-chaired by Paul Amen of the National

Officials from Nebraska and South Dakota will appear before a House subcommittee in Washington Thursday asking that work begin the next fiscal year on a Missouri River bank stablization project above Sioux City, Iowa.

"Both states are concerned about this because some people are losing half their land," Dayle Williamson, executive secretary of the Nebraska Natural Resource Commission, told United Press International in an interview.

Williamson said before the House public works subcommittee is a request from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for another $70,000 to continue studying the matter for at least another year.

However, he said, "we think this is waiting too long."

"The two states feel the corps should move into the construction stage and we are going to see if we can't reach some agree-

More Trips Announced By Frontier

Additional beefed up service for Lincolnites was announced by Frontier Airlines Wednesday. The airline will offer a flight to Scottsbluff, a westbound flight to Grand Island and a morning flight to Kansas City, Ken Woods, Frontier district sales manager announced. Those flights are in addition to increase service announced by Frontier Tuesday to St. Louis, Denver and Las Vegas.

All new changes go into effect

In addition to the new flights. Frontier will relocate a maintenance base in Lincoln.

A three-man crew will be responsible for servicing a Boeing 737 jet that will be based in Lincoln for use on Frontier's flight to Dallas. Woods said the crew also will handle major repair jobs and other aircraft maintenance.

Frontier relocated the team to Kansas City four or five years ago, Woods said.

The new round of flight increases will give Lincoln area residents six westbound and five eastbound flights, Woods said.

The reinstated flight to Kansas City will start in Scottsbluff at 6:13 a.m., stopping in North Platte and Grand Island before arriving in Lincoln at 9:13 a.m. That plane will continue on to Kansas City, arriving at 10:06

The new westbound flight to Grand Island will originate in Omaha at 10:05 p.m., arrive in Lincoln at 10:51 p.m. and arrive in Grand Island at 11:34 p.m. The flight terminates there, Woods said.

And another westbound jet will depart Kansas City at 5:30 p.m. and arrive in the Capital City at 6:15 p.m. That flight will then go to Omaha. Grand Island, North Platte, arriving in Scottsbluff at 10:36 p.m.

Stock Mart Prices Soar; Volume Light

New York (AP) - Stock market prices ran into a hot streak Wednesday, but volume was too low to make the rally very significant, brokers said.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up over 20 points at 3 p.m., closed at 853.88, up 17.13. Advances led declines 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. But volume for the day was 15.12 million shares, light for a rally as many investors, believing that gains would be short term and losses would come soon, stayed out of the market.

Brokers said the groundwork for the rally was laid by the big declines last week, the failure of the much-touted inflationary price bulge to materialize once controls were lifted Tuesday, and the present reluctance of many corporations to offer bond issues because the interest they would have to pay investors on the bonds was too high. This may be a sign that rates either were at their top or near it, and that the 1034 per cent prime posted. Wednesday by most major banks might be the top of the spiral of interest rates.

The big points were added to the rally by the large funds, heavy with cash which rushed midafternoon into the market in a throng afraid of missing the beginning of the next bull market, brokers said.

Con Edison was the Big Board's most-actively traded stock, up % to 9%, followed by INA Corp. off 1/4 at 30%, boosted onto the most-active stock list by a 197,000-share block. Citicorp, First National City Bank's parent company, added % to close at 41½, Flying Tiger was upchanged at 15½ and the Standard Oil unchanged at 15½, and the Standard Oil of California rose 1% to close at 30%, osted by a 25,000-share block traded to 3036.
American Motors fell 36 to 7% after the American Motors tell 46 to 746 after the company reported lower quarterly earnings than many analysts expected. Bausch & Lomb rose 1¼ to 25% after losses totaling more than $3 a share during the last two sessions. The losses came after the FDA gave permission to a competitive company to make and market the soft lens, breaking Bausch & Lomb's monopoly on the product. competitive company to make and market the soft lens, breaking Bausch & Lomb's monopoly on the product.

CNA Financial did not open all day on the New York Stock Exchange. The company reported heavy first-quarter losses and is threatened by a tender offer from Lows Corp for controlling shares of CNA. Loews said it would offer shareholders substantially higher prices for their stock than present market value, but the CNA board said it would fight actively and proposed tender offer and try to keep CNA independent.

Among other popularly watched averages, the NYSE broad-based index rose 99 to 48.92.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .96 to 90.67, and in over-the-counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index added .77 to close at 87.63.

Playboy Ups Single Copy Cost By 25¢

Chicago (AP) - Playboy Enterprises Inc. announced a price increase from $1.00 to $1.25 for single copies of Playboy magazine effective with the July issue which goes on sale June 13.

Price of the larger December and January holiday issues was increased from $1.50 to $1.75. The price of an annual subscription will remain unchanged.

The increase resulted from higher cost of quality paper, ink. printing and distribution, a spokesman said.

Playboy claims a circulation of 6.5 million.

Commodities Sharply Lower

Chicago (AP) - Farm commodity futures closed sharply lower on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, except for two of the minor pits. Old crop wheat futures were down the 20 cent limit at one time but closed a few pennies off the bottom. Soybeans were down about 14 cents and also closed a shade higher. Soybean oil had a decline of 100 points, the limit for one session, but meal gained about $4 a ton.

Corn futures, down the limit of 10 cents around noon, also recovered before the final bell.

Cattle Prices Fully Steady

Omaha, Neb. (AP) - Good demand and improvement in overall quality of the cattle outlay here Wednesday prompted fully steady prices for slaughter steers and heifers.

Receipts of around 6,000 head, all slaughter offerings, ran to around 90 per cent fed steers and heifers with numerous loads of heavy steers noted. A wide variation in prices was noted on choice and prime cattle. Lighter weights 1,075-1,225 lbs collected 41.00-41.75, a load 1.150 lbs at 41.75. Several loads

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

High school students in Lincoln may get volunteer experiences in human services as part of their regular educational program in the fall. The school district Wednesday received a $4,000 federal grant to plan the program, called EPIC — Educational Participation in the Community - according to James P. Leestma, career education systems planning specialist.

The May-July grant from ACTION, The umbrella agency for federal volunteer programs, stipulates a $3,100 nonfederal share from the school district that requires no cash outlay; instead, an equivalent amount of in-kind services.

The district may possibly "reapply for funds to operate the program in the fall, based on our experience in the planning phase," said Leestma, who will work half-time as a planning

The project got underway Wednesday, he said, with a planning meeting of a coalition representing community service and government agencies, school officials, students and poor people.

"This will be a joint effort by students and the community," Leestma said, noting that no curriculum additions will be mandated strictly by the school district.

EPIC "will be targeted at Lincoln High in terms of curriculum units to support the experiences," he said, but emphasized that "the placement services will be available to all students within the district."

Curriculum units will relate how skills learned in classes can be applied in human services, he said. Short-term units will include how to become a volunteer, what it means and what kinds of skills are required.

"We hope that the community agencies will assist us by providing in-service training for the volunteers that we send there," he said.

EPIC will involve "students from all areas," not just those with social sciences backgrounds, Leestma said. For example, home economics majors could volunteer for homemaker assistance programs; vocational education students for playground repair.

"This is not something new," Leestma pointed out, noting the district has conducted similar programs. But under EPIC, he said, "We will make a consolidated effort now to pull those experiences we've had together and form a program.'

EPIC will also relate to the career education concept, allowing students to explore human services careers, with particular emphasis on poverty and poverty-related services, he said.

During the planning stage, the coalition will establish program goals and identify the volunteer opportunities in Lincoln; for example, what hours and duties are required, what skills are necessary.

Leestma said EPIC will also assess students' desires - working hours they prefer, skills they can contribute, services they're interested in. The program will also compile a pool of student volunteers' names.

EPIC will allow for "curriculum infusion," developing courses based on student experiences in human services agencies, he said Further, the staff will plan volunteer short courses and work with the agencies to develop instructional methods.

At the end of July, Leestma said the district will use information gathered in the planning stages to submit a statement of feasibility for EPIC and apply for a continuation grant man Nate C. Holman, Douglas said that of the 355 arrested persons who have been interviewed at the jail, 252 have been released without necessity of employing an attorney.

Of the total, 80 have been refused release by the program because they did not meet the minimum criteria established by the committee and the other 19 were released either to attorneys or other agencies following their interview.

Douglas also said that the committee was pleased that of the 252 released, only two have failed to appear for arraignment or trial.
